Year Finds Our World Has No War

Diplomats Say Years Might Pass Before Real Peace Comes Among Nations

May Split Europe

Present Conference May Cause Broad Rift on Continent

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, May 8 (AP)—The world observed the first anniversary of victory in Europe today without war anywhere—but also without peace.

In fact, the best estimate of diplomatic authorities here is it may be several years before real conditions of peace are restored among nations. The prospects even for this they say, have been darkened by the evident failure of the foreign ministers conference in Paris to make progress on European peace settlements.

The situation in Europe is matched in Asia by the dispute between the Chinese Communists and the central government; and in the Middle East by the tensions over the war-born Palestine crisis revolving around proposals for the admittance of 100,000 Jewish refugees to the Holy Land. Estimates of the condition in which the world finds itself on today's V-E anniversary leave little doubt that the Allied powers have made considerable progress toward organizing machinery to preserve peace once they establish it. But it is the process of establishing the peace that presents the toughest going.

Almost the only major problem in Europe on which the United States, Britain, Russia and France seem able to find a common denominator of agreement at the moment is the one presented by the Franco government in Spain. They don't like Franco.

No Basic Agreement

But in the major political disputes concerning Russia's rights in the Balkans, the future of Germany, British domination in the Mediterranean—or, these there is no basic agreement. And officials here hold little hope of early settlements.

There is wide-spread belief among both American and foreign diplomats that the Paris foreign ministers conference actually may result in splitting Europe for a long time between the western Allies and Russia, rather than in uniting it in peace.

The problem of the conference is to write peace treaties for Italy, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Finland. Failing in this, the conferees may have to resort to a system of modifying present armistice agreements with the ex-enemy satellites.

This would prolong indefinitely the suspension between war and peace and might strengthen the position of occupying powers with their own. Some British officials believe such action in effect would amount to handing over the Balkans finally to Russia.

In Asia the restoration of real peace and the elimination of sources of conflict among the great powers depend on three factors: Szechow unifying China, winning Allied agreement on the long-range control of Japan, and uniting in effect plans for the full independence of Korea.

Sources of Irritation
All these issues at present serve as constant sources of irritation among the big powers. The division extends even to the relief of millions suffering from food shortages due partly to crop failures and partly to economic upheavals caused by the war.

Russia thus far has refrained from participating in Allied grain pools or even making available to cooperating nations the information to what food supplies she might have available if she did participate.

Along with the famine problem and the immediate and long range political issues go the economic issues yet to be settled. These involve America's announced policy of seeking freer world trade, Britain's economic future

Roosevelt Sewer, Disposal Plant Run Into $259,799.21

A total of $166,754.07 has been expended upon the construction of the sewage treatment plant on East Strand, and $94,045.14 on the construction of the Roosevelt Park sewer, as of April 31, of this year, according to a report filed with the Common Council Tuesday evening by the city's engineering department.

The report showed that so far the city has expended a total of $259,799.21 on these two uncompleted projects. The report was filed.

Council Rejects Plan to Use Excess Funds for Judgments

A resolution introduced by Alderman Paul A. Zucca to use the excess of the amount of state aid to be received this year, as compared with the amount estimated in the city budget, to pay off the judgments of employees against the city by employees whose salary increase had been lopped from the budget by Mayor W. F. Edelmuth in January, was rejected by the Democratic majority in the Common Council Tuesday evening.

Kingston to Get Laboratory To Study Poultry Diseases

One of Two Such Establishments in State Will Come to Unspecified Location; Delays Will Be Eliminated

Kingston has been selected as the site for one of two new Poultry Disease Laboratories which will be established in the state under authority of the New York State Veterinary College through appropriations made available by the State Legislature at its recent session.

In addition to the study of poultry diseases research work will also be conducted at the laboratory in connection with dairy cattle diseases.

The establishment of the Poultry Disease Laboratory here was made certain Tuesday when Albert Kurdt, director of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, received a communication from Dean W. W. Haggan of the New York State Veterinary College, stating that Kingston had been selected.

Price Panel Sifts Charges at Hearing

Uptown Market Overcharge Is Settled in Quick Time by Group

A consumer's complaint involving an overcharge of more than 50 cents on a purchase of three pounds of meat in an uptown market was settled in record breaking time yesterday by the Price Control Panel of the Kingston Rationing Board.

The hearing conducted less than four hours after complaint was filed with the panel was further highlighted by the exhibit of the cut of meat that was under protest.

The price panel, which conducts hearings every Tuesday at the municipal auditorium on alleged

Will Serve Eastern Area

The Kingston Laboratory will serve the eastern section of the state and will provide poultrymen of this area a place where sick birds may be brought for early diagnosis of diseases or other ailments. At present advice may be secured from the Farm Bureau and valuable aid has been given poultrymen locally through the Farm Bureau but where a difficult case was encountered it was necessary to consult the laboratory at Farmingdale on Long Island or the other laboratory at Ithaca, this often caused serious delay in diagnosing a disease.

Mr. Kurdt said the laboratory would be set up just as soon as a suitable location could be found and the staff assembled.

The Poultry Committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau has been looking for the establishment of such a laboratory in this locality for a number of years, such recommendation being made at least 10 to 12 years ago but because of lack of funds no definite action was taken until the last Legislature made available additional funds.

Several other places including Liberty and Oneonta sought the laboratory, but the committee after investigating the possibilities decided on Kingston as being most centrally located and best able to serve the counties in the eastern part of the state including Dutchess and Columbia counties across the river.

Will Do Cattle Research

In conjunction with the poultry laboratory there will also be research work in the area on cattle diseases.

Ulster county has become one of the state's foremost poultry raising sections and annually local poultrymen bring into the county a very considerable sum through

Ceremony For Ferry Announced

Exercises Will Begin in City 11 A. M. and Will Be Repeated at East Shore

Meeting Scheduled

Hagginbothom to Meet Here Tomorrow With Committee

The long anticipated resumption of ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff will take place Thursday, May 16, with appropriate ceremonies which will begin on the Kingston side of the river at 11 o'clock. Following the ceremonies on this side of the river the ferry "George Clinton" will proceed to Rhinecliff where ceremonies will be held under auspices of the Dutchess county committee.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies incident to the resumption of ferry service the committee and guests will dine at Beekman Arms, Rhinebeck.

Plans for the celebration were under way today by the Chamber of Commerce committee which will have charge of the program for resumption of ferry service.

It was said at this time it was impossible to make public the details of the program which is being worked out but it is anticipated that there will be ample opportunity for the public to inspect the new ferry "George Clinton" at both the Kingston and Rhinecliff sides of the river.

William K. Hagginbothom, executive officer of the New York State Bridge Authority, will meet with the local committee from the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Governor Clinton Hotel at which time there will be discussed details of the celebration and other operational details.

False Conviction to Net Campbell About $40,000

Albany, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Bertram M. Campbell, 59, who asserts he still has "nightmares" about Sing Sing, will receive upwards of $40,000 from the state as a result of his false conviction of forgery in 1938.

In prison for a crime to which another man later confessed, Campbell began his suit against the state yesterday in the Court of Claims. The Floral Park, L. I. bookkeeper was convicted during Governor Dewey's tenure as New York county district attorney.

Dewey pardoned him last August because of innocence. An offer by the state, through Assistant Attorney General Arthur W. Mattson, to pay Campbell $40,000 for loss of earnings was accepted by the former Wall Street customers' man.

Presiding Judge James J. Barrett reserved decision on the remainder of Campbell's claim, $106,000 for humiliation and mental suffering while serving three years and four months in Sing Sing and three years and 10 months on parole.

Invitations Issued

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The United States put an end today to a lot of speculation about "operation crossroads" by inviting 11 nations to send official representatives and news correspondents to the coming atomic bomb tests in the Pacific. For some weeks there has been considerable conjecture whether foreign observers would be permitted to witness the experiments, and Capitol Hill has heard some lawmakers assert the tests were certain to divulge valuable military information.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The position of the Treasury May 6: Receipts $83,655,821.93. Expenditures $106,456,755.99. Balance $19,381,459,908.07. Custom receipts for month $6,524,659.19. Receipts fiscal year July 1, $36,074,405,440.85. Expenditures fiscal year $36,370,526,841.80. Excess of expenditures $296,121,400.95. Total debt $272,859,014,351.58. Decrease under previous day $23,248,002.21. Gold assets $20,249,501,635.55.

'Big Three' Spokesmen Say Curtailment Is Dependent on Freight Embargo; Auto Parts Are Not 'Essential'

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company, hit hard by the nationwide coal strike, today announced a virtual shutdown of all its operations starting tonight, affecting 110,000 workers.

Chrysler Corp. said its assembly lines and body plant operations may be suspended early next week because of the coal emergency, and General Motors Corp., announcing shutdown of its La Grange, Ill., unit, said other work may be affected "within a very short time."

Spokesmen for the auto industry's "Big Three" said curtailment of their operations was dependent on the government's general freight embargo, effective at midnight Thursday, under which auto parts are not eligible for transportation by rail.

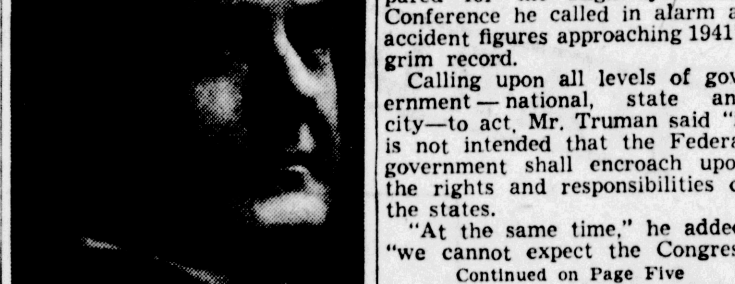

A Chrysler Corp. official said "we won't know for sure until the end of this week" whether the company would have to shut down, but said it is "very nearly certain we will have to close down some operations" if the government prohibits rail shipments of auto parts. G.M. reported the situation was being "watched daily," the company's electro-motive plant at La

Senate Will Vote on Key Change in Loan to Britain

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The Senate agreed to vote (at 2:45 p. m. E. S. T.) today on a key amendment to the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

The bare possibility thus arose that the measure which has been under debate since mid-April might be cleared to the house by tonight.

The amendment, sponsored by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.), would make the loan contingent upon the United States nailing down permanent rights to military, air and naval bases acquired from Great Britain under 99-year lease.

Under McFarland's proposal, this nation also would obtain such peacetime commercial use as might be agreed upon between the two countries of other American-built bases in British territory.

The amendment provides further that the agreement on bases shall be negotiated "with a view to bringing about an equitable adjustment" of Britain's World War I debt to the United States.

Administration Senators, fighting to put the resolution through without change, regarded the McFarland proposal as likely to attract more votes than any other

Office Is Set Up

Small Says Care Is Taken to Prevent Utilities' Collapse

Washington, May 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers refused to budge an inch today from their original contract demands, forcing even more stringent controls over the nation's fast-dwindling soft coal supplies.

Industry was hit harder. The Association of American Railroads reported about 51,000 railroad men had been laid off in its ranks, and another quarter million in industries it serves.

Against such a background, Federal Mediator Paul W. Fuller redoubled efforts to break the negotiations deadlock between Lewis and the mine operators, and the 38-day old stoppage which is keeping 400,000 miners idle.

Fuller met with no success in his first efforts to work out an agreement on the question of $3,000,000 in holiday overtime which the miners insist is due them. However, he kept at it, for this issue is one of the obstacles blocking discussion of major provisions in a new contract for the miners.

On Capitol Hill Congressional tempers grew shorter, and support gathered behind demands that strike control legislation get No. 1 priority unless a prompt end to the coal shutdown is effected.

Amid the angry clamor, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), and Senators Ball (R-Ky.), and Taft (R-Ohio), spoke out against any headlong action while the lawmakers were worked up over the coal emergency. All three indicated they doubted a legislative "rush job" would have much effect on the current crisis.

Emergency Control Is Set Up

Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small meanwhile set up an office of emergency controls "to avoid collapse of utilities services essential to public health and safety during the coal strike."

This office will take whatever steps possible to keep all power, gas and water companies in operation, Small said. He named Edward Falck, formerly director of war utilities for the War Production Board, to direct the task and the two communicated immediately with governors, local regulatory commissions and officials of states "most likely to be affected by the measures the C.P.A. may take."

"We are going to do everything in our power to maintain utilities in operation," said Small. "This is something that intimately affects the health, safety and well-being of our people in their homes."

Brownouts and dimouts of lights were imposed by community after community across the country in an effort to conserve fuel stores.

The solid fuels administrator reported that even gas and oil, now under heavier demand than ever, are becoming hard to get because of transportation difficulties as railroads slashed services requiring coal-burning locomotives.

Restrictions Are Imposed

The Office of Defense Transportation imposed new restrictions on coal dealers, ruling that supplies must go only to those consumers with less than five-days' stock.

The crippling effects of the strike seemed to be building up relentlessly to the big crisis which some government labor officials privately believed Lewis has been waiting for to strengthen the bargaining position of his mines in the negotiations with the operators.

If they're right, some "break" may come soon. The temper of congress to put anti-labor legislation on the books may speed Lewis' decision to bring about a settlement, these labor officials suggest.

But on the surface Lewis' posi-

Senate Will Vote on Key Change in Loan to Britain

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The Senate agreed to vote at 2:45 p. m. E. S. T. today on a key amendment to the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

The bare possibility thus arose that the measure which has been under debate since mid-April might be cleared to the house by nightfall.

The amendment, sponsored by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.), would make the loan contingent upon the United States nailing down permanent rights to military, air and naval bases acquired from Great Britain under 99-year lease.

Under McFarland's proposal, this nation also would obtain such peacetime commercial use as might be agreed upon between the two countries of other American-built bases in British territory.

The amendment provides further that the agreement on bases shall be negotiated "with a view to bringing about an equitable adjustment" of Britain's World War I debt to the United States.

Administration Senators, fighting to put the resolution through without change, regarded the McFarland proposal as likely to attract more votes than any other of a series of proposed amendments.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) has served notice that adoption of any amendment which would require renegotiation of the loan agreement would be the same as killing it.

The Senate agreed at Barkley's request, to meet at 11:45 a. m.—a quarter-hour earlier than usual—Barkley said he wanted only one hour of the three to present arguments against the restriction.

The Kentucky obtained the agreement by unanimous consent after the chamber had rejected by a 41-41 tie vote an effort to limit debate by the parliamentary device of cloture. The effort originated with two Republican Senators, Ball of Minnesota and Smith of New Jersey. It would have required a two-thirds majority to prevail.

After the vote on the McFarland amendment, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), planned to raise a point of order that the loan resolution contains provisions making it a revenue bill which should originate in the House under the constitution. This parliamentary question normally would be put directly before the Senate for decision.

Most Shops Join Barbers' Union

Membership Is Reported
as 86 Per Cent of
Those Operating

Announcing that 86 per cent of Kingston's barber shops have been unionized and are now operating under a new price scale and in compliance with the strict sanitary code of New York State, President Michael Amato of the Journeyman Barbers Union, Local 534, A.F.L., yesterday termed the union drive a complete success.

"Only a couple of large shops are out of the fold at the present time," Amato said, following a meeting in which virtually all downtown barbers were signed with the union.

The Barbers' Union will continue its drive for 100 per cent affiliation of all local shops, Amato said, to insure the highest possible standards for Kingston customers.
Downtown barbers were given until Monday night to acquit their customers with the changes in hours and prices to conform with union scales that became effective on May 1.

New Hours Listed
New hours for all local union shops are 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. from Monday through Thursdays, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Friday, and 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on Saturdays. The new price scale is 75 cents for haircuts and 35 cents for shaves. Children's haircuts up to junior high school cost 50 cents from Mondays through Fridays, and 65 cents on Saturdays.

Amato expressed his gratitude for the cooperation given him by the press and radio in his campaign to bring the facts of local barber shop conditions before the public.

"In the next few days I hope to announce the signing of 35 excellent barber shops in Kingston," Amato said. "The Barbers' Union continues to appeal to all local customers to patronize union shops," he continued. "The union card is the customer's guarantee of sanitary service and competent tonsorial treatment."

Mid-Hudson Traffic Club Dines Tonight in Newburgh

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will be held this evening at the Palatine Hotel in Newburgh.
About 80 reservations have been made for the dinner. Walter Pine, president, will preside.

The main speaker of the evening will be Lou Byrne, chief of the Port of New York Authority, who will speak on "Port Authority Past and Present." Vincent M.
Boody, truck terminal superintendent of the Port Authority, also will be at the dinner and will answer any questions pertaining to the proposed union-motor truck terminals for New York city and Newark, N. J.

Collins Is Injured Slightly in Crash

George R. Collins of Route 2, Kingston, suffered a cut on his head and the front end of his Chevrolet roadster was damaged when the auto struck the rear of a U. S. Army truck parked on Broadway, near East Chester street at 3:50 o'clock this morning, according to a police report.

Officer Peter Camp and Walter McDonough, who investigated the crash, reported that Mr. Collins was driving south on Broadway, and when near the street intersection, struck the rear end of the parked truck, which was in charge of Joseph Lombardo of Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Turk Acquitted, Trinchillo Faces 20 Years to Life

New York, May 8 (P)—Jack Turk, dark-haired, 14-year old "baby sitter" was acquitted late yesterday of first degree murder in the death of three-year old Subil Gurfein.

The youth—youngest person to stand trial for his life in the history of Queens county—received the verdict with little show of emotion.

But behind him a murmur swept the chamber and his mother broke into a chilling sob and collapsed in the arms of her husband.

The verdict, which a jury of 10 men and two women returned after deliberating three hours and 20 minutes, did not end the case however. The boy now faces the possibility of confinement as a juvenile delinquent until he reaches his majority.

He is to appear later in Childrens Court on the juvenile delinquency charge.

The state contended the freshman high school student strangled the baby, whom he was attending, last February 23 to stifle her cries after he had taken her from a crib and moved her into a bed he was occupying. He testified he did not intend to kill the child.

The body, a cord around the neck and the head hanging into a water-filled bathtub, was found by the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gurfein, when they returned home from a party.

Trinchillo Is Convicted Across town another drama was being enacted in Kings County Court where an all-male jury convicted Nicholas Trinchillo, 16, of second degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying of Mrs. Pauline Goldstein, 53, in her Brooklyn drygoods store last October 27.

The conviction carries a sentence of 20 years to life imprisonment. Date of sentencing was not set.

Trinchillo heard the verdict calmly but paled and suffered an attack of nausea during a lecture by Judge Louis Goldstein.

Goldstein read a police record beginning when the boy was eight.
He said Trinchillo had been in court 10 times and had escaped six times from correctional institutions.

"Even this verdict has no effect on you at all," Goldstein said.

"I didn't kill this woman, judge,"
the boy said.

To Retain Transylvania

Bucharest, May 8 (P)—The war crimes trial of former Premier Ion Antonescu and 16 members of his government was interrupted by a spontaneous demonstration today when it was announced in the courtroom that the Big Four foreign ministers had agreed in Paris that Romania should retain Transylvania. The defendants joined the audience in cheering and handclapping which greeted the announcement. Transylvania was ceded to Hungary during the war under an agreement dictated by Adolf Hitler.

Observe V-E Day

Paris, May 8 (P)—United States forces in Paris observed the first anniversary of President Truman's proclamation of V-E day this morning in a brief ceremony at the Arc de Triomphe. Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, of the Air Transport Command, placed a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier. This was followed by a one-minute silence, after which a French bugler blew taps.

Ohio's Primaries Show Huffman Is Tops in Primaries

Congressmen Returned
to Running With Few Exceptions in Four States

(By The Associated Press)
Nearly complete returns today gave Senator James W. Huffman victory over three opponents for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Tuesday's Ohio primaries, including a C.I.O.-P.A.C. endorsed candidate who finished third.

In the Alabama Democratic primary, second testing ground of the union group's political influence, two C.I.O.-P.A.C. choices led their fields and a third trailed.

With few exceptions, incumbent congressmen were renominated in the four states voting—Ohio, Alabama, Indiana and Florida.

Huffman had a margin of more than 23,000 votes over his nearest opponent, former Rep. Stephen M.
Young, with about 90 per cent of Ohio's precincts counted. Another 16,000 back came Marvin C. Harrison, attorney supported by the C.I.O.-P.A.C. Edward A. Huth was a distant fourth.

Huffman's rival in the November election will be former Governor John W. Bricker, Republican vice presidential nominee in 1944, who was unopposed for his party's Senate nomination.

In the other senatorial primary — Florida's — former Governor Spessard L. Holland polled a majority over the combined vote for three opponents and won the Democratic nomination, assuring him of election in the fall. He will succeed Senator Charles O. Andrews, retiring because of ill health. Holland had a two to one lead over former Rep. Lex Green, who ran second.

Will Engage in Run-Off

In one of the two gubernatorial primaries, James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, war veteran supported by the C.I.O.-P.A.C. led Alabama's Lieut. Gov. Handy Ellis, but neither was close to a majority in the five man field. They will engage in a run-off June 4.

Ohio's Democratic governor, Frank J. Lausche, piled up a landslide renomination victory over Joseph Torok, Jr., politically unknown grocery worker of Youngstown. Former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert won the Republican nomination easily from Albert E. Payne, Springfield manufacturer.

Rep. Luther Patrick of the Birmingham, Ala. district, endorsed by the C.I.O.-P.A.C., trailed Laurie Battle, war veteran and political newcomer. Rep. Albert Rains of the Fifth Alabama District, also supported by the union group, led former Rep. Joe Starnes. Alabama's seven other representatives were renominated.

Rep. Pat Cannon of Miami was snowed under by George A.
Smathers, 32-year-old ex-marine as Florida nominated four other congressional incumbents.

Six Republican congressmen from Indiana who had opposition were renominated, including Rep.
Charles Halleck, chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

In Ohio incumbent George Bender of Cleveland defeated Norman A. Imrie, former newsmen of Columbus, for the Republican nomination for congressmen at large.

Negroes voted on a statewide basis for the first time in the hitherto "white primaries"

Alabama and Florida, but there were no reports of instances where their number were decisive.
Florida, 32,000 Negroes voted.
There was no estimate of the number in Alabama.

Voting was light in all except the Alabama primaries, where mer servicemen exempt from the poll tax swelled the balloting.

Professional Sport Group Forms to Promote Locally

Intentions of Group Are Indefinite at Present Club Spokesman Tells Reporter

Incorporation of the Kingston Sports Enterprises, a local organization which plans to operate professional sports in and around Kingston, was announced today by the club's directors.

Approval of the application for incorporation has been received from the Secretary of State and plans will proceed for the organization of the new sports promotion group.

The capital stock will consist of 100 shares, with no par value. Under the terms of incorporation there shall be no less than three directors, nor more than five.

Temporary directors listed in the application are Esther Kohan, 61 Broadway; Frances A. Ackley, 27 Pine street; and Hester Sleight, 277 Fair street. Date for the election of permanent officers has not been announced.

A club spokesman, while declining to reveal the names of the persons who are behind the new organization, said the club would promote all types of professional sports, including prize fights, racing, basketball, baseball, swimming meets, etc.

No Comment

Quered whether the club plans to apply for use of the municipal stadium for professional bouts, the club spokesman said he had no official comment to make at the present time.

The amateur boxing bouts being presented twice monthly at the municipal auditorium have been sponsored by B'nai B'rith. Recently it was announced that this group planned to use the stadium for outdoor amateur boxing.

Details relative to professional boxing or baseball, two of the city's leading sports attractions, are vague at the present time.

Recently, a committee from B'nai B'rith Lodge met with the Building and Supplies Committee of the Common Council relative to use of the municipal stadium for outdoor boxing this summer. It was said at the city clerk's office today, however, that no definite dates have been specified for use of the uptown park.

At the meeting, Alderman Thomas Coughlin of the Seventh ward, chairman and other aldermen on the committee tentatively endorsed the B'nai B'rith plans to arrange the stadium seating capacity to accommodate 5,000 spectators for outdoor boxing.

Professional baseball in the city at the present time is being operated by the Recreation Baseball Commission under the supervision of the Superintendent of Recreation. Plans for the forthcoming season, including the appearance of three major league teams, already have been mapped, with the seasonal opener scheduled for May 30.

Further details regarding the plans for the new sports group will be announced after the election of permanent officers, the spokesman said. No date has been set for this meeting.

Osterhoudt Auto Lands in 209 Ditch

Accident Near Kripplebush Road on Tuesday

A car operated by Chester Osterhoudt of Allgerville turned completely around and catapulted into a ditch on Route 209 near the Kripplebush road yesterday, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

Osterhoudt was driving toward Kingston the report stated when he applied the brakes to turn into the Kripplebush road. His car rolled completely around and landed over in the ditch on the left hand side of the road. No one was injured.

Hoe, Poughkeepsie, Is Renamed Bridge Head

Albany, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Robert Hoe, Poughkeepsie, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, was reappointed today by Governor Dewey for a three-year term ending February 1, 1949.

The Bridge Authority controls and operates three structures spanning the Hudson river; the Mid-Hudson bridge at Poughkeepsie and Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill and the Bear Mountain Bridge at Peekskill.

The governor also made these reappointments: Lawrence S. Greenbaum, Mamaroneck, to the board of visitors, Harlem Valley State Hospital, Windale, until December 31, 1952; John A. Zimmerman, Newburgh, to the board of trustees for George Washington's old headquarters, Newburgh, until April 1, 1951.

President Says Challenge to Be Met

and the Federal government to stand idly by if the toll of disaster continues unchecked. The challenge must and will be met.

"I firmly hope and believe that every agency of government, backed by the aroused support of its citizens, will meet its responsibilities fully in this field."

Uniformity Is Essential

Opening the three day meeting of governors, police officials, highway and safety experts, Mr. Truman asserted that "uniformity in rules of the road is essential to safe and pleasant highway travel."

"Its achievement, under present relationships, also is a joint responsibility of the several state and local governmental jurisdictions."

"For the most part," Mr. Truman emphasized, "street and highway accidents are produced by carelessness and neglect. They can be sharply curtailed through a concerted effort, mobilized by this conference and carried forward vigorously under your leadership in all parts of the country."

The President said that some of the federal establishments, such as the Post Office Department, are directly concerned with the problems as operators of large numbers of motor vehicles.

"But," he added, "the main share of public responsibility rests with the state and local agencies of government. States and cities are responsible for enactment of laws governing the use of motor vehicles on public thoroughfares, and for the enforcement of those laws."

"It is squarely up to them to deal with that small group of traffic incorrigibles who cause so much trouble, to so many. After all, the license to drive on the public highways is a privilege that can be denied if it is abused."

Proposals for unified state highway regulations were laid before the conference for study. Mr. Truman told the delegates that great powers in the supervision of the Superintendent of Recreation reports "you will form a uniform and balanced highway safety program."

and the great question of how private capitalism, British Socialism and Russian Communism can trade and work together.

American officials say that not until some of the economic and political problems are solved—and particularly not until confidence is established among the great powers in their respective good intentions—can the United Nations machinery be expected to cope effectively with problems of world peace and security.

And to this they add that not until the U. N. machinery begins to prove itself in this respect can it be counted upon confidently to accomplish the biggest task of all—prevention of an atomic war.

tion seemed stronger than ever, as far as the backing of his miners is concerned. He presented a report yesterday to U.M.W.'s Policy Committee at a special session here, and the 250 strike leaders who make it up shouted their approval of his strategy.

The Policy Committee plans to stay on in Washington indefinitely in case there are developments. This committee must ratify any contract agreement reached by Lewis.

The hope that Lewis might alter his demands and ask the committee for approval of a changed course got no encouragement at yesterday's meeting.

"We'll stick it out," one union official said.

21 Miners Killed

Charleroi, Belgium, May 8 (AP)—Twenty-one miners were reported killed in a coal mine explosion last night at Lodelinsart.

Byrnes Proposes Peace Conference Draft Agreement

Paris, May 8 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was said by a British informant today to have proposed shifting the burden of drafting Europe's peace treaties from the four-power council to a 21-nation peace conference to meet in Paris, June 15.

The informant said it was conceded the foreign ministers of Britain, Russia, France and the United States were unable to agree on the major points of the treaties, but a member of the American delegation said the four ministers would continue their sessions at least into next week.

Details on the debate which followed Byrnes' proposal were lacking, but it was reported his three colleagues replied that they would have to consult their governments.

V. M. Molotov, the Russian foreign minister, was reported to have said in a series of long speeches that he had hoped the drafts of treaties could be written before the 21 nations met. But he did not reject or accept Byrnes' proposal outright.

The present compromise formula for writing Europe's peace treaties was decided on in London last September. The Russians had then insisted upon limiting the participants in concluding peace treaties to the big powers and the enemy belligerents.

The British and Americans had insisted upon inviting the smaller powers. The compromise called for the big powers to prepare drafts which would be submitted to a 21-nation conference for discussion and suggestions, with the big powers having the final say.

The other three ministers were said, however, to have accepted a Byrnes suggestion that their delegates draw up a list of points on which they have agreed and another list on which they have disagreed.

Keresman Auto, Bus Collide; Two Passengers Treated

Peter Keresman of Florence street, secretary of the New York State Police Conference, narrowly escaped injury at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday when his automobile was in collision with an Adirondack bus at the intersection of Henry street and Clinton avenue, according to a police report.

John F. Hill, a negro passenger on the bus, claimed injury to his side, back and ribs, while Constantine Vossilo, of New York, was badly shaken up. Both men were treated by Dr. John F. Larkin, and continued on to New York.

According to the report of Officers Frank Sammons and Grover Hoffay, Mr. Keresman was driving north on Clinton avenue and was about in the center of the street intersection when his auto was struck in the right rear fender.

The force of the impact was such that the Keresman car was turned completely around and the rear end struck a telephone pole on the corner. Damage to the car was the right rear fender, the bumper and dents in the body of the auto.

Mr. Keresman escaped unhurt, and was able to drive his car away under its own power.

One of the fog lights on the big bus was broken in the crash.

Hill's injuries, it was reported, were caused by the arm of the bus seat, as the seat slid out from under him when the bus driver applied the brakes.

The bus was being operated by John C. Stone of Malone.

Story Is Picked As Foreman of the May Grand Jury

Harold V. Story of Ulster Park was named foreman of the grand jury Tuesday when the May grand jury was finally sworn in and organized after a charge by Justice Schirick. Ward Hummel of Shandaken was named acting foreman.

On Monday when the original panel was present there were excuses exercised and it became necessary to draw an extra panel of twelve names in order to complete the panel. This extra panel was sworn in Tuesday and the grand jury then organized.

On the day calendar, marked for trial today, was No. 1712, which is No. M-20 on the military calendar, an action in negligence brought by Helen Pothemont, an infant by Eustace Pothemont, etc., against Frank Piccoli and others. Ernest E. Schirmer appears for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook for defendants.

Mansour Is Arrested

Washington, May 8 (AP)—F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover announced today the arrest of John Mansour, the last of the five fugitives who escaped from the District of Columbia jail November 4, 1945. Hoover said Mansour was arrested early this morning by F.B.I. special agents in a tourist cabin at Lawrenceville, N. J. The agents surrounded the cabin. Hoover said, and gave Mansour a count of five to come out. He refused. They then fired a shot gun blast into the cabin and the fugitive came out. Mansour, Hoover said, will be charged with violating the Federal Escape Act. When he escaped from the district jail, he was under a charge of robbery, Hoover said.

Will Sell 6 Tons of Butter To Combat Black Market

Philadelphia, May 8 (AP)—More than six tons of butter, enough to supply 12,600 persons with one pound each goes on sale today at the Reading terminal here.

And housewives will be able to buy it at the selling price of 55 cents per pound.

The sellers will be farmers, members of the New Jersey Federated Egg Producers Co-operative Association of Toms River, N. J., affiliated with the National Farmers Union.

"We're out to break the black market in butter," said Irwin Kramer, cooperative sales manager.

Kramer said the 250 members of the Co-operative obtained the butter from farmers in the Great Lakes dairy belt. And, he adds, they'll get a carload of butter—64,000 pounds—each week.

Thompson Estate Set at $558,319

Two Saurgeties Persons Receive $10,000

An appraisal by the New York State Transfer Tax Department of the estate of the late Ralph Harriman Thompson, who was associated with the Diamond Paper Mills, Saurgeties, prior to his death on February 15, 1945, showed gross holdings of $558,319 and a net of $483,045.

Stock held by Mr. Thompson in the Saurgeties concern amounted to $273,000, the tax department announced. Previous to the death of his wife, Dorothy M. Thompson on August 12, 1943, he had transferred to her a $75,000 interest in the paper mills.

There were no close relatives named as beneficiaries, but a grant of $10,000 cash goes to Frank G. and Julia Phelps of Saurgeties. In addition to this they are to receive one-fourteenth of the residuary estate, which is approximately $320,000.

At the time of his death in his 70th year, Mr. Thompson resided at 635 Park avenue in a home valued at $11,539. He had holdings of $12,404 in other interests besides the paper mill. Funeral and administrative expenses were listed as $62,869.

Most Shops Join Barbers' Union

Membership Is Reported
as 86 Per Cent of
Those Operating

Announcing that 86 per cent of Kingston's barber shops have been unionized and are now operating under a new price scale and in compliance with the strict sanitary code of New York State, President Michael Amato of the Journeymen's Barbers Union, Local 534, A.F.L., yesterday termed the union drive a complete success.

"Only a couple of large shops are out of the fold at the present time," Amato said, following a meeting in which virtually all downtown barbers were signed with the union.

The Barbers' Union will continue its drive for 100 per cent affiliation of all local shops, Amato said, to insure the highest possible standards for Kingston customers.

Downtown barbers were given until Monday night to acquaint their customers with the changes in hours and prices to conform with union scales that became effective on May 1.

New Hours Listed

New hours for all local union shops are 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. from Monday through Thursday, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Friday, and 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on Saturdays. The new price scale is 75 cents for haircuts and 35 cents for shaves. Children's haircuts up to junior high school cost 50 cents from Mondays through Fridays, and 65 cents on Saturdays.

Amato expressed his gratitude for the cooperation given him by the press and radio in his campaign to bring the facts of local barber shop conditions before the public.

"In the next few days I hope to announce the signing of 35 excellent barber shops in Kingston," Amato said. "The Barbers Union strongly appeals to all local customers to patronize union shops."

Mid-Hudson Traffic Club Dines Tonight in Newburgh

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will be held this evening at the Palatine Hotel in Newburgh. About 80 reservations have been made for the dinner. Walter Pine, president, will preside.

The main speaker of the evening will be Lou Byrne, chief of the port promotion bureau of the Port of New York Authority, who will speak on "Port Authority Past and Present." Vincent M. Boody, truck terminal superintendent of the Port Authority, also will be at the dinner and will answer any questions pertaining to the proposed union-motor truck terminals for New York city and Newark, N. J.

Collins Is Injured Slightly in Crash

George R. Collins of Route 2, Kingston, suffered a cut on his head and the front end of his Chevrolet roadster was damaged, when the auto struck the rear of a U. S. Army truck parked on Broadway, near East Chester street at 3:50 o'clock this morning, according to a police report.

Officer Peter Camp and Walter McDonough, who investigated the crash, reported that Mr. Collins was driving south on Broadway, and when near the street intersection, struck the rear end of the parked truck, which was in charge of Joseph Lombardo of Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Turk Acquitted, Trinchillo Faces 20 Years to Life

New York, May 8 (AP)—Jack Turk, dark-haired, 14-year old "baby sitter" was acquitted late yesterday of first degree murder in the death of three-year old Sybil Gurfein.

The youth—youngest person to stand trial for his life in the history of Queens county—received the verdict with little show of emotion.

But behind him a murmur swept the chamber and his mother broke into a chilling sob and collapsed in the arms of her husband.

The verdict, which a jury of 10 men and two women returned after deliberating three hours and 20 minutes, did not end the case however. The boy now faces the possibility of confinement as a juvenile delinquent until he reaches his majority.

He is to appear later in Children's Court on the juvenile delinquency charge.

The state contended the freshman high school student strangled the baby, whom he was attending, last February 23 to stifle her cries after he had taken her from a crib and moved her into a bed he was occupying. He testified he did not intend to kill the child.

The body, a cord around the neck and a knife hanging into a water-filled bathtub, was found by the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gurfein, when they returned home from a party.

Trinchillo Is Convicted

Across town another drama was being enacted in Kings County Court where an all-male jury convicted Nicholas Trinchillo, 16, of second degree murder in the bludgeoning of Mrs. Pauline Goldstein, 53, in her Brooklyn drygoods store last October 27.

The conviction carries a sentence of 20 years to life imprisonment. Date of sentencing was not set.

Trinchillo heard the verdict calmly but paled and suffered an attack of nausea during a lecture by Judge Louis Goldstein.

Goldstein read a police record beginning when the boy was eight. He said Trinchillo had been in court 10 times and had escaped six times from correctional institutions.

"Even this verdict has no effect on you at all," Goldstein said.

"I didn't kill this woman, judge," the boy said.

To Retain Transylvania

Bucharest, May 8 (AP)—The war crimes trial of Former Premier Ion Antonescu and 16 members of his government was interrupted by a spontaneous demonstration today when it was announced in the courtroom that the Big Four foreign ministers had agreed in Paris that Romania should retain Transylvania. The defendants joined the audience in cheering and handclapping which greeted the announcement. Transylvania was ceded to Hungary during the war under an agreement dictated by Adolf Hitler.

Observe V-E Day

Paris, May 8 (AP)—United States forces in Paris observed the first anniversary of President Truman's proclamation of V-E day this morning in a brief ceremony at the Arc de Triomphe. Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, of the Air Transport Command, placed a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier. This was followed by a one-minute silence, after which a French bugler blew taps.

Ohio's Primaries Show Huffman Is Tops in Primaries

Congressmen Returned
to Running With Few Exceptions in Four States

(By The Associated Press)

Nearly complete returns today gave Senator James W. Huffman victory over three opponents for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Tuesday's Ohio primaries, including a C.I.O.-P.A.C. endorsed candidate who finished third.

In the Alabama Democratic primary, second testing ground of the union group's political influence, two C.I.O.-P.A.C. choices led their fields and a third trailed.

With few exceptions, incumbent congressmen were renominated in the four states voting—Ohio, Alabama, Indiana and Florida.

Huffman had a margin of more than 23,000 votes over his nearest opponent, former Rep. Stephen M. Young, with about 90 per cent of Ohio's precincts counted. Another 16,000 back came Marvin C. Harrison, attorney supported by the C.I.O.-P.A.C. Edward A. Huth was a distant fourth.

Huffman's rival in the November election will be former Governor John W. Bricker, Republican vice presidential nominee in 1944, who was unopposed for his party's Senate nomination.

In the other senatorial primary — Florida's former Governor Spessard L. Holland polled a majority over the combined vote for three opponents and won the Democratic nomination, assuring him of election in the fall. He will succeed Senator Charles O. Andrews, retiring because of ill health. Holland had a two to one lead over former Rep. Lex Green, who ran second.

Will Engage in Run-Off

In one of the gubernatorial primaries, James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, war veteran supported by the C.I.O.-P.A.C. led Alabama's Lieut. Gov. Handy Ellis, but neither was close to a majority in the five man field. They will engage in a run-off June 4.

Ohio's Democratic governor, Frank J. Lausche, piled up a landslide renomination victory over Joseph Torok, Jr., politically unknown grocery worker of Youngstown. Former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert won the Republican nomination easily from Albert E. Payne, Springfield manufacturer.

Rep. Luther Patrick of the Birmingham, Ala., district, endorsed by the C.I.O.-P.A.C., trailed Laurie Battle, war veteran and political newcomer. Rep. Albert Rains of the Fifth Alabama District, also supported by the union group, led former Rep. Joe Starnes. Alabama's seven other representatives were renominated.

Rep. Pat Cannon of Miami was snowed under by George A. Smathers, 22-year-old ex-senator.

as Florida nominated four other congressional incumbents.

Six Republican congressmen from Indiana who had opposition were renominated, including Rep. Charles Halleck, chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

In Ohio incumbent George Bender of Cleveland defeated Norman A. Imrie, former newsman of Columbus, for the Republican nomination for congressmen at large.

Negroes voted on a statewide basis for the first time in the hitherto "white primaries" Alabama and Florida, but there were no reports of instances where their number were decisive. In Florida, 32,000 Negroes voted. There was no estimate of the number in Alabama.

Voting was light in all except the Alabama primaries, where the poll tax swelled the balloting.

GREEK TIME TANGLE

"What time is it?" You look at your watch, but still the question is not answered. Your time is no longer my time. Every state, every community, has decided to have its own time. Railroads and radio stations have an almost insoluble problem in getting trains and broadcasts scheduled and schedules interpreted to the public. A third hand has been added to many public clocks to indicate the difference between "standard" and "daylight saving" time. Time tables use green ink for some trains.

Long ago the Greeks, whose literature and logic remain so startlingly modern, had a myth that fits today's muddle. The sun god, Apollo, had a son Phaeton, who, as boys today tease to drive their father's cars, begged to drive Apollo's sun chariot, just for a day. Reluctantly the father, so like a modern sire, gave consent, ordered the horses harnessed to the golden chariot studded with diamonds, trimmed in silver. "Dawn threw open the purple doors of the east, showing the pathway strewn with roses."

Phaeton, erect, grasping the reins at first with delight, soon realized the perilous journey was too much for him, the horses beyond his control. The sun came too late to some parts, and too soon, too hot to others. Day and night, heat and cold, became mixed. Jupiter ended it all with a thunderbolt that sent Phaeton hurtling out of the chariot. Apollo—and order—took command.

But there is no Jupiter for us—only missed trains and appointments, and clocks with three hands. As if life were not already complicated enough!

There seems to be a belief in this country that we have better people accordingly as we have better gadgets. But there are still people here and there who refuse to accept such a standard. These deny not only the supremacy of gadgets, but the materialistic thinking and feeling which tend to go along with the gadgets.

NAMES ALIKE, NOT PEOPLE

Maybe "there ought to be a law" against people of similar names figuring in the news at the same or nearly the same time. Hardly had the hubbub died down over President Truman's appointment of Edwin W. Pauley of California as undersecretary of the navy when he appointed William D. Pawley ambassador to Brazil.

Of course there are differences. Edwin W. comes from California, and William D. from Florida. Residents of the two states are positive that there is no similarity. And Edwin W. faced defeat in the Senate, while William D. was confirmed without opposition. But the likeness of the names does cause confusion.

Neither Edwin W. nor William D. however, can find the confusion so trying as Edward J. Flynn of New York City, whom President Roosevelt tried to make Minister to Australia about the time when Errol Flynn, the movie star, was figuring extensively in the courts. What to do about these matters?

Three things especially needed now in this country are price control, rent control and emotional control.

BASEBALL UNION

If the new baseball players' union really gets going, it will make some difference in the game. An avowed object is to give the player some say when it is proposed to transfer him to another club. Suppose he objects to any transfer except to a wealthy club which pays higher salaries than the rest? That would soon end in one or two clubs monopolizing the best talent. Things are near enough to that now in the American League, with the New York Yankees on top almost every year, without making it any worse.

Unions tend to favor equal pay for workmen engaged on the same job. Will they demand that Tommy Holmes or Joe DiMaggio be cut down to lesser players' salaries, or are all to rank with these top-notchers?

And will the closed shop be enforced? Will

ASTRAY AND SLOPPY

Let us push aside the exciting headlines and the irritating news stories to peer beneath for some answer. What is happening not to the government, not to great names and busy personalities, not to our rulers nor to the common people, if such there be, but to the individual American?

For instance, the other night I went to see that excellent bit of Americana, "The Red Mill," in a theatre where they still begin the evening with "The Star Spangled Banner." My eyes caught a naval officer in a box talking to his pretty companion while the national anthem was being played. He was not at attention. Of course, he may be on terminal leave, but he was in uniform and his posture and attitude were sloppy. His mind was equally sloppy, for were it not so, the first note would have brought him to attention.

It was like the sloppiness of mind of New York politicians who permitted veterans in military and naval uniforms to march in the Communist parade in full regalia on May 1, in spite of the political nature of the demonstration and the subversive character of the slogans and signs borne by the demonstrators. The uniform is a symbol of the nation. All authorities agreed that it was illegal to wear the uniform under those circumstances, but all agreed that they would do nothing about it. There are votes in "them, their hills" for some sloppy-minded politicians who would rather hold office in a country astray than perform a clear but unpleasant and vote-losing duty.

Or take the O.P.A. publicity that Chester Bowles does with public money. It is clearly against the law. That money was appropriated for specific purposes and for no other. The other day I turned on my radio to listen to that excellent program, "Mr. District Attorney," and what did I get? Chester Bowles denouncing Congress. But it is the function of Congress to enact legislation to establish government bureaus and to abolish them, to lay down the fundamental policy for this nation. It is the function of Administrative officials to execute the law as passed by Congress—and no more. If one of these ambitious great minds cannot do that, he should resign. But he may not, under the law, while in the government employ, stimulate a pressure upon the Congress.

Does the law make any difference to Chester Bowles or the thousands of office-holders some of whom are fighting as much for their jobs as for principle? The O.P.A. was supposed to keep prices down and has succeeded in developing a black market for the goods that cannot possibly be sold under their ceilings and disappear from the usual market. Congress, and not Mr. Bowles or the O.P.A. or even the President, under the American constitutional system, is responsible for determining what should be done about that. But Mr. Bowles illegally is conducting at public expense a campaign to confuse the people and to lessen the authority of Congress. The shrieking slogans and accusations cannot be a substitute for well considered debate. Why not burn down the Capitol? Hitler—or was it Goering—burned down the Reichstag. Why not pursue the same short-cut?

The other day, I saw that Henry Wallace had said that we Americans, except for our language, owe no more to Greece than to Russia. Now, Henry Wallace may love Russia; that is his privilege and his right. But that statement represents sloppy thinking. Ours is an Anglo-Saxon civilization. The King James Version of the Bible, English Common Law, Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights, Shakespeare, Milton, the Puritans, Byron, Shelley, Keats, John Locke, David Ricardo, John Smith, John Stuart Mill, the colonial charters—everything that is fundamental in our lives came to us via England. Not a single cultural, spiritual, emotional element in American life comes to us from Russia, Palestine, Rome and Ireland—yes, Russia, Germany and any other country—no.

Henry Wallace knows that but politics leads him astray. He is the most sloppy-minded like his naval officer who conversed with a dame while his national anthem was being played?

PIMPLES

I write frequently about acne—pimples—because it means so much to boys and girls and young adults to have a clear skin. Many a young adult with acne has developed an inferiority complex, shunned young companions, avoided public office or any position that would bring him or her before the public. For years part of the treatment was avoiding starches and sweets which in truth helped many cases. Later came treatment with the vitamins—vitamin A and vitamin D (viosterol)—then the use of pituitary extract and other methods.

While it has always been thought that the development of the sex glands at puberty was a factor in causing acne, it was only recently that research workers were able to prove the development, lack of development, or disturbance of the sex glands was the largest factor in causing acne. Some male sex gland extract was injected into an individual with a clear skin and acne resulted; withdrawal of the sex gland extract caused disappearance of the acne. While this would tend to prove that sex gland extract is a cause of acne, what is not known by many is that male sex extract has some of the qualities of the female sex extract, and the female has some of the male.

In the British medical journal, the Practitioner, Dr. J. T. Ingram states that in acne the balance of the male and female elements in the sex glands have been disturbed, the male element or factor being too large in proportion to the female element. This is corrected by injecting or giving by mouth some female sex extract. In females with acne female sex extract is given for several days after the female period. That is in both girls and boys with acne extra female sex extract (estrogen) is given.

I believe this information will be a help to all of us, physicians and patients. It has been known that the sex extracts were a factor but it has not been known that too much male sex extract was to blame. The knowledge that the female sex extract by injection or by mouth will help many cases of acne will be greatly welcomed.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Even Humble Potato Requires Proper Planting

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

SINCE home-grown potatoes are going to play an important role this year in the face of food shortages, take care to plant them properly.

The ideal soil for potatoes is one that is well drained and is loose in texture. If you have had your potato patch plowed and the soil is shattered it will need no further fitting for potatoes.

If your patch is small you can plant the seed potatoes in hills. If fairly large in area the trench method of planting is recommended.

Make a furrow 4 to 5 inches deep and spread some fertilizer in the bottom of the trench and mix it with the soil. The dark area shown at the bottom of the trench in the accompanying Garden-Graph indicates fertilizer mixed with soil.

Commercial fertilizers used for potatoes should contain from 3 to 5 per cent nitrogen, 8 to 12 per cent superphosphate, and 7 to 27 per cent potash.

Plant the seed pieces 3 to 4 inches below the level surface of the soil, as illustrated. Cover the potatoes with 1½ inches of soil at planting time, and later as the sprouts come up through the soil, keep pulling the soil to them until finally the trench is filled in level with the ground, as illustrated.

Large seed pieces cut to average 1 to 1½ ounces and having two or at most three eyes will prove best. Small tubers of this weight can be planted whole. Tubers weighing 2 to 3 ounces should be split from bud end to stem end; 3 to 4½-ounce tubers, stem end cut off, then the bud end split; 5-ounce tubers should be split from bud to stem end, then through the middle.

As soon as the plants are 3 to 4 inches high start spraying operations.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

An important business change in the uptown business section was announced in January, 1928, when Charles B. Everett owner of the properties at 318-320 Wall street, leased the property to the J. C. Penney Co., operator of a chain of department stores.

At the time the lease was signed one of the two stores was occupied by the Everett hardware store, and the other by the Grand Union grocery store.

The Penney Company, it was said, planned to remodel the two stores into one large store, and planned to open on September 1, of that year.

An important event in the religious life of Kingston was the laying of the corner stone of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, under construction on Hasbrouck avenue, on Sunday afternoon, January 15, 1928.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. B. von Schenck of Hoboken, while the stone was laid by the Rev. Carl A. Romoser, first pastor of the new church.

The plans for the church had been drawn by Architect Thomas P. Rice of this city.

Turning to business affairs it was in January, 1928, that Miss Mary E. Flynn, of Styvessant street, sold her millinery business at 27 East Street to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koransky of Orange, N. J.

Miss Flynn was retiring from business that year after engaging in the millinery business on the Strand for 31 years. There are many women of Kingston today who will recall buying hats at the Flynn store.

The Myesotes Class of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church on January 3, 1928, presented the play, "The Second Puncture," in Epworth Hall.

Among those in the cast were Annette Raschke, Evelyn Lasher, George Kennedy, Arthur K. Rice, Ralph DeGraff, Ruby Cure, Albert H. Shultis, Myron Hopper, Mrs. Joseph Yerry, Jr., Mary Raschke and Emma Palen.

Joseph D. Rodman died on January 6, 1928, in the home of his son, J. Dean Rodman, on Levan street. He had been employed by the Cornell Steamboat Co. for more than half a century, and had retired from active business in 1922.

Another well known man who died on December 26, 1927, was Robert A. Parsons, who for 21 years had been a member of the crew of the steamer, Mary Powell, the old Queen of the Hudson. Mr. Parsons died in his home on O'Neil street.

When the old queen was retired from active service, Mr. Parsons entered the employ of the Styvessant Hotel, a post he held until he retired. He was one of the oldest members of Kingston Lodge of Elks at the time of his death.

Coal Strike, Like Every Dispute, Has Two Sides; Public Hears Only III Effects of Stoppage

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 8—There are two sides to every controversy and the coal strike is no exception.

The public hears only about the ill effects of the prolonged work stoppage. It knows little about the merits of the dispute or of the reasons for the complete collapse of collective bargaining as a means of settling some of the major labor difficulties in America.

The coal miners have many a point, but the public knows little about this. Now, however, the situation is rapidly getting to the stage where merits of either side don't count and where the government must figure out a way to prevent the nation's economic collapse.

Drastic measures are available. The mines can be seized, the union facilities can be seized. Persons who attempt to dissuade the miners from going back to work can be prosecuted. All this is severe, and the President is disinclined to go to such an extreme unless compelled by public necessity.

From a self-preservation point of view, the nation cannot afford to go more than ten days longer without more coal being mined.

John L. Lewis has accurate statistics on coal above ground and knows just how far he can press his case. He is represented as believing that the shortage is not as bad as painted, that much of the talk of serious deficiencies is exaggerated and that much pressure is being put upon the coal miners' union by business and manufacturing interests anxious to help break the strike.

There is some disposition in official quarters to believe that maybe more coal is available than is generally thought to be the case, but the official word in any event is that the nation cannot allow the strike to go as much as ten days more.

Mr. Lewis is patiently waiting for the very latest moment to accept compromise. The mine operators are waiting, too. The President has been impatient to seize the mines but has been advised to wait, on the theory that public reaction to the strike will make his task easier when the time comes to take drastic action. There have been some complications behind the scenes. Back pay which has been in dispute is due to the miners. Some operators have wanted to pay it now. Others have not, because they think it will furnish the wherewithal to prolong the strike.

The American people do not know what is going on. There is among informed persons here a sympathy with the miners' demand for a welfare fund but disagreement as to how the fund should be collected or administered. John L. Lewis has declined to discuss other points at issue until the welfare question is settled. His feeling is that unless he has such an extreme position, he will not get anything for the welfare fund.

The need for better safety laws and a welfare fund of some kind is conceded in principle, and if the public had known about the details from an official fact-finding board, as recommended by President Truman to Congress, there would have been less chance for a national economic system or for the mine owners to refuse a practical compromise.

When will Congress cut through all the politics and the confusion and see that only an informed public opinion can prevent or terminate strikes in a democracy? When will Congress insist that when a major dispute is threatened, both sides be restrained from injuring the economic life of the country—at least until the merits of the dispute have been unfolded by an impartial tribunal?

The President made a mistake in trying during the auto strike to function through informal fact-finding boards which did not have legislative sanction and the right of subpoena. He made another mistake when he ceased to press Congress for action. He still has an opportunity to insist that Congress pass the fact-finding legislation at once. The country was something done about strikes and the President's proposal is the most harmful and yet could be the most effective of all the suggestions that have been made with respect to the prevention of settlement of labor disputes.

Measure is being blocked in the Senate by the labor union lobby. Mr. Truman should tell the American people about it, even if he involves the members of his own political party. Public opinion, with all the facts, can prevent or shorten strikes. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

STAMPS in the NEWS

AP Features

New stamp issues from all parts of the globe are arriving daily to intrigue collectors. Many are the products of new governments. Others are from long-established regimes.

From Hungary has come an attractively designed eight-stamp set picturing a post rider blowing his horn. Values range from 4,000 pengo to 100,000-p. Another new-comer from Hungary is a 1-plus-1 pengo purple stamp, which honors Bajcsy-Zsilinszky Endre, a patriot and statesman who was executed by the Nazis in 1944.

Brazil has issued a diamond-shaped gray 40-centavo stamp to mark the 100th anniversary of the death of Adolpho de Albuquerque Salgado da Gama. From Brazil too have come a few copies of the 40-centavo stamp printed to commemorate the completion of an international bridge between Brazil and Argentina last November. Before it was placed on sale, however, President Getulio Vargas, whose portrait appeared on the stamp, was ousted from office and the stamps were withdrawn. As usually happens, however, two or three small post offices which had received the stamps released them.

Six new stamps from Albania, inscribed "Democratic Republic of Albania," feature three distinctive designs. The two lowest values picture a building on a hillside. A bridge resembling the Vezir bridge shown on Scott's A53 appears on the two middle denominations. Two high values show an air view of a settled val-

lay. All of the stamps are poorly printed.

An occupation set of nine values used by the Chinese on Formosa is reportedly by John H. Stojow of New York. The Chinese are merely utilizing existing Japanese stamps on the island by overprinting them "Chinese Republic—for use in Taiwan."

Nine values of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 30, 40, and 50-cent—feature large numerals. The five and 10-cent stamps present familiar Japanese designs. All are imperforate.

Plans for the first day sale of the new United States three-cent stamp honoring discharged veterans May 9 call for Postmaster General Hannegan to sell the first sheet to President Truman and presentation of sheets to Gen. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, and Adm. Nimitz, chief of Naval operations. Sheets also will be presented to veterans of the four combat services—Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Although the official name is the United Nations, rather than United Nations Organization, Mexico's new stamps in honor of the world organization feature the letters "O.N.U." which stand for Organization de Naciones Unidas.

The six postage stamps show a globe and laurel branch and bear the inscription "For la Paz del Mundo" (For the Peace of the World). The five airmail stamps are dominated by the letters "O.N.U." composed of flags of the United Nations. A longer inscription "Para Conservar la Paz del Mundo" (In Order to Conserve the Peace of the World) also appears on the airmail stamps.

Regular postage values are 2, 6, 10 centavos, 1, 5 and 10 pesos. Airmail values are 30-c, 1, 5, 10 and 20 pesos.

There are 29 islands in the Bahamas.

Editor, The Freeman:

The recent public statement by Republican State Chairman Glen R. Bedenkapp that State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, of Newburgh, is one of six men under consideration for the Republican nomination this year for United States senator, must have pleased many of your readers as well as myself.

State Senator Desmond is well equipped by education, previous legislative experience and other qualifications to be United States senator.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

For Backseat Drivers
Salt Lake City, May 8 (AP)—Traffic Policeman J. H. Simonsen saw an automobile veer from one side of the street to the other before screaming to a halt a foot from a parked car.

"What's the trouble?" Simonsen asked as he approached.

"I don't know, but here it is," replied the driver as she handed him the steering wheel.

Simonsen suggested a mechanic.

New Panes

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—Three janitors at the central police building haven't a very sunny outlook on a project they started after the city-wide brownout was ordered.

As a measure to save electricity, they are removing the heavy black paper, used for blackouts during wartime, which covers about 500 windows. But they told Chief Janitor James Tobin the paper was fastened so firmly the job would not be completed in a hurry.

And when they finish, Tobin said they complained, they will have 500 additional windows to wash.

Foreman Frank Prindle explains it was all an accident, however. The throttle slipped while he was backing a locomotive into the roundhouse and the engine went through the rear of the building.

Baldwin Intends to Run

New York, May 8 (AP)—Republican Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin intends to run for re-election from Manhattan's "Silk Stocking" 17th Congressional District regardless of the decision of state party leaders. In a statement last night declaring he would run "primary or no primary," Baldwin said he would fight "out here and now" any attempt to sidetrack him as a candidate from the district—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's home district. State Senator Frederick R. Coudert, Jr., leader of the Ninth Assembly District, which is in the 17th Congressional District, has been regarded as Baldwin's possible successor.

President Truman Has Quiet 62nd Birthday

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Truman observed his 62nd birthday today by posting a "business as usual" notice at the White House.

If the family planned any party, Mr. Truman hadn't been told about it. Neither had White House officials.

Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman told him it would be "like any other day, only more so," and that if there was to be a birthday cake it was being kept secret from him.

A year ago, Mr. Truman announced on his birthday the end of the war against Germany. Today he started a homefront campaign for more safety on streets and highways. The occasion was the opening of a highway safety conference attended by governors and many state and local leaders from all over the country.

plans to spend $25,000,000 for purchase of 22 American ships including 10 Libertys, four cargo liners and eight tankers, and to resell them to private owners. Osio reports. The ships, built between 1943 and 1945, have been chartered to Norway since then.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach
With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Earthquake Shocks

New York, May 8 (AP)—Two "quite severe" earthquake shocks, probably centering in the South Pacific, were recorded today on the Fordham University seismograph, the Rev. Joseph J. Lynch reported. Father Lynch said the tremors were felt at 12:39:52 a. m. (E.S.T.) and at 12:42:49 and were about 9,700 miles from here, probably between the Dutch East Indies and New Guinea. Minor repercussions from the same area were recorded about 5 a. m., Father Lynch said.

Professional Sport Group Forms to Promote Locally

Intention of Group Are Indefinite at Present Club Spokesman Tells Reporter

Incorporation of the Kingston Sports Enterprises, a local organization which plans to operate professional sports in and around Kingston, was announced today by the club's directors.

Approval of the application for incorporation has been received from the Secretary of State and plans will proceed for the organization of the new sports promotion group.

The capital stock will consist of 20 shares, with no par value. Under the terms of incorporation there shall be no less than three directors, nor more than five.

Temporary directors listed in the application are Esther Kohan, 31 Broadway; Frances A. Ackley, 15 Pine street; and Hester Sleight, 271 Fair street. Date for the election of permanent officers has not been announced.

A club spokesman, while declining to reveal the name of the person who are behind the new organization, said the club would promote all types of professional sports, including prize fights, racing, basketball, baseball, swimming meets, etc.

No Comment

Quipped whether the club plans to apply for use of the municipal stadium for professional bouts, the club spokesman said he had no official comment to make at the present time.

The amateur boxing bouts being presented twice monthly at the municipal auditorium have been sponsored by B'nai B'rith. Recently it was announced that this group planned to use the stadium for outdoor amateur boxing.

Details relative to professional boxing or baseball, two of the city's leading sports attractions, are vague at the present time.

Recently, a committee from B'nai B'rith Lodge met with the Building and Supplies Committee of the Common Council relative to use of the municipal stadium for outdoor boxing this summer. It was said at the city clerk's office today, however, that no definite date has been specified for use of the stadium park.

At the meeting, Alderman Thomas Coughlin of the Seventh ward, chairman and other aldermen on the committee tentatively endorsed the B'nai B'rith plans to arrange the stadium seating capacity to accommodate 5,000 spectators for outdoor boxing.

Professional baseball in the city at the present time is being operated by the Recreation Baseball Commission under the supervision of the Superintendent of Recreation. Plans for the forthcoming season, including the appearance of three major league teams, already have been mapped, with the season opener scheduled for Tuesday, May 20.

Further details regarding the plans for the new sports group will be announced after the election of permanent officers, the spokesman said. No date has been set for this meeting.

Osterhoudt Auto Lands in 209 Ditch

Accident Near Krippelbush Road on Tuesday

A car operated by Chester Osterhoudt of Allgerville turned completely around and catapulted into a ditch on Route 209 near the Krippelbush road yesterday, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

Osterhoudt was driving toward Kingston the report stated when he applied the brakes to turn into the Krippelbush road. His car turned completely around and landed over in the ditch on the left hand side of the road. No one was injured.

Hoe, Poughkeepsie, Is Renamed Bridge Head

Albany, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Robert Hoe, Poughkeepsie, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, was reappointed today by Governor Dewey for a three-year term ending February 1, 1949.

The Bridge Authority controls and operates three structures spanning the Hudson river: the Mid-Hudson bridge at Poughkeepsie and Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill and the Bear Mountain bridge at Peekskill.

The governor also made these reappointments: Lawrence S. Greenbaum, Mamaroneck, to the board of visitors; Harlem Valley State Hospital, Wargrave, until December 31, 1952; John A. Zimmermann, Newburgh, to the board of trustees for George Washington's old headquarters, Newburgh, until April 1, 1951.

Byrnes Proposes Peace Conference Draft Agreement

Paris, May 8 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was said by a British informant today to have proposed shifting the burden of drafting Europe's peace treaties to the four-power council to a 21-nation peace conference to meet in Paris June 13.

The informant said it was conceded the foreign ministers of Britain, Russia, France and the United States were unable to agree on the major points of the treaties, but a member of the American delegation said the four ministers would continue their sessions at least into next week.

Details on the debate which followed Byrnes' proposal were lacking, but it was reported his three colleagues replied that they would have to consult their governments.

Will Sell 6 Tons of Butter To Combat Black Market

Philadelphia, May 8 (AP)—More than six tons of butter, enough to supply 12,600 persons with one pound each goes on sale today at the Reading terminal here.

And housewives will be able to buy it at the selling price of 55 cents per pound.

The sellers will be farmers, from the New Jersey Federated Egg Producers' Co-operative Association of Tomas River, N. J., affiliated with the National Farmers' Union.

"We're out to break the black market in butter," said Irwin Kramer, cooperative sales manager. Kramer said the 250 members of the Co-operative obtained the butter from farmers in the Great Lakes dairy belt. And, he adds, they'll get a carload of butter—64,000 pounds—each week.

Colonial Company Contract Reported With Cloak Union

The unionization campaign of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union gained speed today with the negotiation of a contract with the Colonial Manufacturing Company, 18 Pine Grove avenue. This factory employs 40 workers in the manufacture of sweaters.

Terms of the contract, The Freeman was told, include wage increases of from 10 per cent to 20 per cent for all production workers; establishment of vacation and health benefits; union security provisions and a union shop. Negotiations for the company were carried on by Charles Warshaw, president of the Colonial, and by Ewig and Cashion, local attorneys. The union was represented by Morton Goodman, Hudson Valley supervisor of the I.L.G.W.U., and Jacob Schneider, Kingston manager of the union.

The unionization of Colonial has been under way during the past 30 days under the guidance of Mr. Schneider and a committee of workers headed by Mrs. Betty Keller. Negotiations were concluded yesterday, and the contract takes effect May 13, 1946.

Terms of the settlement were announced to the Colonial employees at a special meeting held in the factory yesterday afternoon at 4 p. m. The meeting was conducted by Mr. Schneider.

"The signing of Colonial Manufacturing is the latest milestone on our road to the peaceful unionization of Kingston's ladies' garment plants," stated Mr. Schneider. "The end of the road is not far off. The union is forging ahead more rapidly every day."

Keresman Auto, Bus Collide; Two Passengers Treated

Peter Keresman of Florence street, secretary of the New York State Police Conference, narrowly escaped injury at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday when his automobile was in collision with an Adirondack bus at the intersection of Henry street and Clinton avenue, according to a police report.

John F. Hill, a negro passenger on the bus, claimed injury to his side, back and ribs, while Constantine Viosiole of New York, was badly shaken up. Both men were treated by Dr. John F. Larkin, and continued on to New York.

According to the report of Officers Frank Sammons and Grover Hoffer, Mr. Keresman was driving north on Clinton avenue and was about in the center of the street intersection when his auto was struck in the right rear corner.

The force of the impact was such that the Keresman car was turned completely around and the rear end struck a telephone pole on the corner. Damage to the car was the right rear fender, the rear bumper and dents in the body of the auto.

Mr. Keresman escaped unhurt, and was able to drive his car away under its own power.

One of the fog lights on the big bus was broken in the crash. Hill's injuries, it was reported, were caused by the arm of the bus seat, as the seat slid out under him when the bus driver applied the brakes.

The bus was being operated by John C. Stone of Malone.

Story Is Picked As Foreman of the May Grand Jury

Harold V. Story of Ulster Park was named foreman of the grand jury Tuesday when the May grand jury was finally sworn in and organized after a charge by Justice Schirck. Ward Hummel of Shandaken was named acting foreman.

On Monday when the original panel was present there were excuses exercised and it became necessary to draw an extra panel of twelve names in order to complete the panel. This extra panel was sworn in Tuesday and the grand jury then organized.

On the day calendar, marked for trial today, was No. 1712 which is No. M-20 on the military calendar, an action in negligence brought by Eustace Pothemont, et al., against Frank Piccoli and others. Ernest E. Schirmer appears for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook for defendants.

Mansour Is Arrested

Washington, May 8 (AP)—F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover announced today the arrest of John Mansour, the last of the five fugitives who escaped from the District of Columbia jail November 4, 1945. Hoover said Mansour was arrested early this morning by F.B.I. special agents in a tourist cabin at Lawrenceville, N. J. The agent surrounded the cabin. Hoover said, and gave Mansour a count of five to come out. He refused. They then fired a shot gun and the Federal government to stand idly by if the toll of disaster continues unchecked. The challenge must and will be met.

"I firmly hope and believe that every agency of government, backed by the aroused support of its citizens, will meet its responsibilities fully in this field."

Uniformity Is Essential

Opening the three day meeting of governors, police officials, highway and safety experts, Mr. Truman asserted that "uniformity in rules of the road is essential to safe and pleasant highway travel."

"Its achievement, under present relationships, also is a joint responsibility of the several state and local governmental jurisdictions."

"For the most part," Mr. Truman emphasized, "street and highway accidents are produced by carelessness and neglect. They can be sharply curtailed through a concerted effort, mobilized by this conference and carried forward vigorously under your leadership in all parts of the country."

The President said that some of the federal establishments, such as the Post Office Department, are directly concerned with the problems as operators of large numbers of motor vehicles.

"But," he added, "the main share of public responsibility rests with the state and local agencies of government. States and cities are responsible for enactment of laws governing the use of motor vehicles on public thoroughfares, and for the enforcement of those laws."

"It is squarely up to them to deal with that small group of traffic incorrigibles who cause so much trouble to so many. After all, the license to drive on the public highways is a privilege that can be denied if it is abused."

Proposals for unified state highway regulations were laid before the conference for study. Mr. Truman told the delegates that out of those technical studies and reports "you will form a uniform and balanced highway safety program."

Charleroi, Belgium, May 8 (AP)—Twenty-one miners were reported killed in a coal mine explosion last night at Lodelinsart.

Thompson Estate Set at $558,319

Two Saugerties Persons Receive $10,000

An appraisal by the New York State Transfer Tax Department of the estate of the late Ralph Harriman Thompson, who was associated with the Diamond Paper Mills, Saugerties, prior to his death on February 15, 1945, showed gross holdings of $558,319 and a net of $483,045.

Stock held by Mr. Thompson in the Saugerties concern amounted to $273,000, the tax department announced. Previous to the death of his wife, Dorothy M. Thompson on August 12, 1942, he had transferred to her a $75,000 interest in the paper mills.

There were no close relatives named as beneficiaries, but a grant of $10,000 cash goes to Frank G. and Julia Phelps of Saugerties. In addition to this they are to receive one-fourteenth of the residuary estate, which is approximately $320,000.

At the time of his death in his 70th year, Mr. Thompson resided at 655 Park avenue in a home valued at $11,539. He had holdings of $12,404 in other interests besides the paper mill. Funeral and administrative expenses were listed as $62,869.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Emily Shultis, wife of Ruben Shultis, of Bearsville, died in the Benedictine Hospital Tuesday. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edna Shultis, of Bearsville.

W. Hudler of Bearsville, three brothers, Edwin Neher of New Canaan, Conn., and George A. and Clark S. Neher of Woodstock; and a sister, Mrs. Frank Martin of Saugerties. Funeral services will be held from the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with burial in the Woodstock cemetery.

William V. Ryan, a lifelong resident of the Wilbur section of this city, died suddenly early this morning at his home, 1 Fitch street, as he survived by his wife, the former Kathryn Houser; one daughter, Miss Kathryn M. Ryan; one sister, Mrs. Margaret Zoller, and one brother, Fire Commissioner Edward J. Ryan. The funeral will be held from the Jensen & Deegan Funeral Home, No. 15 Downs street, on Saturday morning at 8:45 o'clock and 9:30 at the Church of the Holy Name in Wilbur, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Mr. Ryan was keenly interested in fireman affairs and was a member of Twaalfskil hose Co. No. 5 for 40 years. He also served as custodian of the building for over 20 years. In his youthful years he was a fine ball player and pitched the Wilbur baseball club to many a victory in their travels throughout this area. Although his stature was under the average, his speedball pitching was exceptional and his strikeout record has rarely been bettered. Mr. Ryan spent most of his time on the boat yards in Wilbur and was considered an excellent mechanic, but owing to an illness last year he gave up that work and accepted a position with Mother's Laundry. He was born in Wilbur and resided there all his life. He has a host of friends from all sections of the city who will mourn his sudden death.

Price Formula Decided

Washington, May 8 (AP)—With the nation's default in famine relief shipments soaring toward the million-ton mark, the administration was reported today to have decided on a new price formula for getting more grain from livestock feed bins for human food.

Announcement of the new program was expected soon, possibly before nightfall, and officials at the Agriculture Department said it probably will involve an upward readjustment in the ceiling prices of grain and livestock feeds.

O.P.A. Tightening Noose on the Black Market in Meat

O.P.A. is cracking down hard on meat black market operations with its new slaughter control order, which regulates non-federally inspected livestock slaughterers and became effective as to most slaughterers on April 28. District Director Lester W. Herzog warned today that the order, designed to provide a fairer distribution of livestock by driving supplies among all slaughterers on the basis of their 1944 slaughter, will be strictly enforced.

With some modifications, it reinstates controls formerly imposed by an order issued on April 25, 1945, which was suspended on September 8 and finally revoked on December 29. Its purpose is to limit slaughter of cattle, calves and swine by months to the volume slaughtered by the same person or company in 1944. The Department of Agriculture is administering a similar control order for federally inspected plants, issued simultaneously with the O.P.A. order, this being a joint attempt by the two agencies to revert to the 1944 slaughter pattern.

"By channeling slaughtering operations into readily controlled establishments, it is hoped that the new order will effectively eliminate the black market suppliers who have mushroomed in the absence of slaughter control," Mr. Herzog said. He warned that "those who harbor the idea that enforcement will lag and who therefore delay their compliance with the regulation, will find themselves in Federal court."

Mr. Herzog said that immediate court action, with possible loss of subsidies, will be filed against non-inspected slaughterers who: Do not have a license and continue to slaughter; who slaughter more than their quota; who fail to mark their products correctly; or who neglect to keep proper records. He emphasized that this applies to farm slaughterers as well as packing plants.

Scranton Times Is Pulitzer Winner

Paper Cited for Federal Court Probe; Other Awards Made

(Held From Tuesday)
New York, May 7 (P)—The 1945 Pulitzer prize for "meritorious public service" has been awarded to the Scranton, Pa., Times.

The paper was cited for its 15-year probe of judicial practices in a Pennsylvania Federal Court which resulted in the indictment of former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnston last September.

Pulitzer awards are made annually by the trustees of Columbia University on the recommendation of the advisory board of the Graduate School of Journalism.

The Scranton Times credited the award largely to the work of 38-year-old George H. Martin, assistant city editor, who began investigating the case when he was a federal court reporter.

The trustees named "The State of the Union," by Howard L. Lindsay and Russell Crouse as the best original play.

For the fourth time since the prizes were instituted in 1917, no award was made for the best novel. The trustees failed also to award poetry or news photography prizes.

The three omissions were not a record, however. In 1919 the Pulitzer Prize Committee failed to make four awards. The following additional prizes were announced:

Wine With Bomb Story
William L. Lawrence, of the New York Times, for a "distinguished example of a reporter's work" with his eyewitness account of the atom bombing of Nagasaki and his subsequent articles on the development, production and significance of the atom bomb.

Homer Bigart of the New York Herald Tribune, "for a distinguished example of telegraphic reporting on international affairs."

Araldo Cortes, of the New York Times, for distinguished correspondence with his dispatches from Argentina.

Hodding Carter of the Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Miss., for distinguished editorial writing, awarded for a group of editorials on the subject of racial, religious and economic intolerance.

Bruce Russell of the Los Angeles Times for a distinguished example of a cartoonist's work, awarded for a cartoon entitled "Time to Bridge That Gulch," depicting a Russian Bear and an American Eagle facing across a deep chasm of "irresponsible statements" and "deepening suspicion."

Edward A. Harris of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for telegraphic reporting on national affairs, awarded for his articles on the Tiedover-Cruz situation, culminating in the withdrawal of Edwin W. Pauley's nomination as undersecretary of the navy.

In the field of letters, these additional prizes were awarded: "The Age of Jackson," by Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., for the best book dealing with American history.

"Son of the Wilderness," a life of John Muir, the naturalist, by the late Mrs. Linnie Marsh Wolfe, for a distinguished American biography.

Leo Sowerby was awarded the prize in the field of music for "the Canticle of the Sun," a composition by an American composer.

Miss Iris Maragliotti, Scarsdale, N. Y., won a $1,500 scholarship as "the most promising and deserving" art student.

GREEK TIME TANGLE

"What time is it?" You look at your watch, but still the question is not answered. Your time is no longer my time. Every state, every community, has decided to have its own time. Railroads and radio stations have an almost insoluble problem in getting trains and broadcasts scheduled and schedules interpreted to the public. A third hand has been added to many public clocks to indicate the difference between "standard" and "daylight saving" time. Time tables use green ink for some trains.

Long ago the Greeks, whose literature and logic remain so startlingly modern, had a myth that fits today's muddle. The sun god, Apollo, had a son Phaeton, who, as boys today tease to drive their father's cars, begged to drive Apollo's sun chariot, just for a day. Reluctantly the father, so like a modern sire, gave consent, ordered the horses harnessed to the golden chariot studded with diamonds, trimmed in silver. "Dawn throwing open the purple doors of the east, showing the pathway strewn with roses."

Phaeton, erect, grasping the reins at first with delight, soon realized the perilous journey was too much for him, the horses beyond his control. The sun came too late to some parts, and too soon, too hot to others. Day and night, heat and cold, became mixed. Jupiter ended it all with a thunderbolt that sent Phaeton hurtling out of the chariot. Apollo—and order—took command.

But there is no Jupiter for us—only missed trains and appointments, and clocks with three hands. As it were not already complicated enough!

There seems to be a belief in this country that we have better people accordingly as we have better gadgets. But there are still people here and there who refuse to accept such a standard. These deny not only the supremacy of gadgets, but the materialistic thinking and feeling which tend to go along with the gadgets.

NAMES ALIKE, NOT PEOPLE

Maybe "there ought to be a law" against people of similar names figuring in the news at the same or nearly the same time. Hardly had the hubbub died down over President Truman's appointment of Edwin W. Pauley of California as undersecretary of the navy when he appointed William D. Pawley ambassador to Brazil.

Of course there are differences. Edwin W. comes from California, and William D. from Florida. Residents of the two states are positive that there is no similarity. And Edwin W. faced defeat in the Senate, while William D. was confirmed without opposition. But the likeness of the names does cause confusion.

Neither Edwin W. nor William D. however, can find the confusion so trying as Edward J. Flynn of New York City, whom President Roosevelt tried to make Minister to Australia about the time when Errol Flynn, the movie star, was figuring extensively in the courts. What to do about these matters?

Three things especially needed now in this country are price control, rent control and emotional control.

BASEBALL UNION

If the new baseball players' union really gets going, it will make some difference in the game. An avowed object is to give the player some say when it is proposed to transfer him to another club. Suppose he objects to any transfer except to a wealthy club which pays higher salaries than the rest? That would soon end in one or two clubs monopolizing the best talent. Things are near enough to that now in the American League, with the New York Yankees on top almost every year, without making it any worse.

Unions tend to favor equal pay for workmen engaged on the same job. Will they demand that Tommy Holmes or Joe DiMaggio be cut down to lesser players' salaries, or are all to rank with these top-notchers?

And will the closed shop be enforced? Will

ASTRAY AND SLOPPY

Let us push aside the exciting headlines and the irritating news stories to peer beneath for some answer. What is happening not to the government, not to great names and busy personalities, not to our rulers nor to the common people, if such there be, but to the individual American?

For instance, the other night I went to see that excellent bit of Americana, "The Red Mill," in a theatre where they still begin the evening with "The Star Spangled Banner." My eyes caught a naval officer in a box talking to his pretty companion while the national anthem was being played. He was not at attention. Of course, he may be on terminal leave, but he was in uniform and his posture and attitude were sloppy. His mind was equally sloppy, for were it not so, the first note would have brought him to attention.

It was like the sloppiness of mind of New York politicians who permitted veterans in military and naval uniforms to march in the Communist parade in full regalia on May 1, in spite of the political nature of the demonstration and the subversive character of the slogans and signs borne by the demonstrators. All authorities agreed that it was illegal to wear the uniform under those circumstances, but all agreed that they would do nothing about it. There are votes in "them" hills for some sloppy-minded politicians who would rather hold office in a country astray than perform a clear but unpleasant and vote-losing duty.

Or take the O.P.A. publicity that Chester Bowles does with public money. It is clearly against the law. That money was appropriated for specific purposes and for no other. The other day I turned on my radio to listen to that excellent program, "Mr. District Attorney," and what did I get? Chester Bowles denouncing Congress. But it is the function of Congress to enact legislation, to establish government bureaus and to abolish them, to lay down the fundamental policy for this nation. It is the function of Administrative officials to execute the law as passed by Congress—and no more. If one of these ambitious great minds cannot do that, he should resign. But he may not, under the law, while in the government employ, stimulate a pressure upon the Congress.

Does the law make any difference to Chester Bowles or the thousands of office-holders, some of whom are fighting as much for their jobs as for principle? The O.P.A. was supposed to keep prices down and has succeeded in developing a black market for the goods that cannot possibly be sold under their ceilings and disappear from the usual market. Congress, and not Mr. Bowles or the O.P.A. or even the President, under the American constitutional system, is responsible for determining what should be done about that. But Mr. Bowles illegally is conducting at public expense a campaign to confuse the people and to lessen the authority of Congress. The shrieking of slogans and accusations cannot be a substitute for well considered debate. Why not burn down the Reichstag—or was it Goering—burned down the Reichstag. Why not pursue the same short-cut?

The other day, I saw that Henry Wallace had said that we Americans, except for our language, owe no more to Great Britain than to Soviet Russia. Now, Henry Wallace may love Russia, that is his privilege and his right. But that statement represents sloppy thinking. Ours is an Anglo-Saxon civilization. The King James Version of the Bible, English Common Law, Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, Shakespeare, Milton, the Puritans, Byron, Shelley, Keats, John Locke, David Ricardo, Adam Smith, John Stuart Mill, the colonial charters—everything that is fundamental in our lives came to us via England. Not a single cultural, spiritual, emotional element in American life comes to us from Russia, Palestine, Rome and Ireland—yes, Russia, Germany and any other country—no.

Henry Wallace knows that but politics leads him astray—or is he merely sloppy-minded like the naval officer who conversed with a dame while his national anthem was being played?

PIMPLES

I write frequently about acne—pimples—because it means so much to boys and girls and young adults to have a clear skin. Many a young adult with acne has developed an inferiority complex, shunned young companions, avoided public office or any position that would bring him or her before the public. For years part of the treatment was avoiding starches and sweets which in truth helped many cases. Later came treatment with the vitamins—vitamin A, and vitamin D (viosterol)—then the use of pituitary extract and other methods.

While it has always been thought that the development of the sex glands at puberty was a factor in causing acne, it was only recently that research workers were able to prove that development, lack of development, or disturbance of the sex glands was the largest factor in causing acne. Some male sex gland extract was injected into an individual with a clear skin and acne resulted; withdrawal of the sex gland extract caused disappearance of the acne. While this would tend to prove that sex gland extract is a cause of acne, what is not known by many is that male sex extract has some of the qualities of the female sex extract, and the female has some of the male.

In the British medical journal, the Practitioner, Dr. J. T. Ingram states that in achieving the balance of the male and female element in the sex glands have been disturbed, the male element or factor being too large in proportion to the female element. This is corrected by injecting or giving by mouth some female sex extract. In females with acne female sex extract is given for several days after the monthly period. That is in both girls and boys with acne extra female sex extract (estrogen) is given.

I believe this information will be a help to all of us, physicians and patients. It has been known that the sex extracts were a factor but it has not been known that too much male sex extract was to blame. The knowledge that the female sex extract by injection or by mouth will help many cases of acne will be greatly welcomed.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Even Humble Potato Requires Proper Planting

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

SINCE home-grown potatoes are going to play an important role this year in the face of food shortages, take care to plant them properly.

The ideal soil for potatoes is one that is well drained and is loose in texture. If you have had your potato patch plowed and the soil is shattered it will need no further fitting for potatoes.

If your patch is small you can plant the seed potatoes in hills. If fairly large in area the trench method of planting is recommended.

Make a furrow 4 to 5 inches deep and spread some fertilizer in the bottom of the trench and mix it with the soil. The dark area shown at the bottom of the trench in the accompanying Garden-Graph indicates fertilizer mixed with soil.

Commercial fertilizers used for potatoes should contain from 3 to 5 per cent nitrogen, 8 to 12 per cent superphosphate, and 7 to 27 per cent potash.

Plant the seed pieces 3 to 4 inches below the level surface of the soil, as illustrated. Cover the potatoes with 1½ inches of soil at planting time, and later as the sprouts come up through the soil, keep pulling the soil to them until finally the trench is filled in level with the ground, as illustrated.

Large seed pieces cut to average 1 to 1½ ounces and having two or at most three eyes will prove best. Small tubers of this weight can be planted whole. Tubers weighing 2 to 3 ounces should be split from bud end to stem end; 3 to 4½-ounce tubers, stem end cut off, then the bud end split; 5-ounce tubers should be split from bud to stem end, then through the middle.

As soon as the plants are 3 to 4 inches high start spraying operations.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

An important business change in the uptown business section was announced in January, 1928, when Charles B. Everett owner of the properties at 318-320 Wall street, leased the property to the J. C. Penney Co. operator of a chain of department stores.

At the time the lease was signed one of the two stores was occupied by the Everett hardware store, and the other by the Grand Union grocery store.

The Penney Company, it was said, planned to remodel the two stores into one large store, and planned to open on September 1, of that year.

An important event in the religious life of Kingston was the laying of the corner stone of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, under construction on Hasbrouck avenue, on Sunday afternoon, January 15, 1928.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Van Sledright of Hoboken, while the stone was laid by the Rev. Carl A. Romoser, first pastor of the new church.

The plans for the church had been drawn by Architect Thomas P. Rice of this city.

Turning to business affairs it was in January, 1928, that Miss Mary E. Flynn of Stuyvesant street, sold her millinery business at East Strand to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koransky of Orange, N. J.

Miss Flynn was retiring from business that year after engaging in the millinery business on the Strand for 31 years. There are many women of Kingston today who will recall buying hats at the Flynn store.

The Myesotes Class of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church on January 3, 1928, presented the play, "The Second Function," in Epworth Hall.

Among those in the cast were Arnetta Raschke, Evelyn Lasher, George Kennedy, Arthur K. Rice, Ralph DeGraff, Ruby Cure, Albert H. Shultis, Myron Hopper, Mrs. Joseph Yerry, Jr., Mary Raschke and Emma Palen.

Joseph D. Rodman died on January 6, 1928, in the home of his son, J. Dean Rodman, on Levan street. He had been employed by the Cornell Steamboat Co. for more than half a century, and had retired from active business in 1922.

Another well known man who died on December 26, 1927, was Robert A. Parsons, who for 21 years had been a member of the crew of the steamer, Mary Powell, the old Queen of the Hudson. Mr. Parsons died in his home on O'Neil street.

When the old queen was retired from active service, Mr. Parsons entered the employ of the Stuyvesant Hotel, a post he held until he retired. He was one of the oldest members of Kingston Lodge of Elks at the time of his death.

Coal Strike, Like Every Dispute, Has Two Sides; Public Hears Only Effects of Stoppage

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 8—There are two sides to every controversy and the coal strike is no exception. The public hears only about the ill effects of the prolonged work stoppage. It knows little about the merits of the dispute or of the reasons for the complete collapse of collective bargaining as a means of settling some of the major labor difficulties in America.

The coal miners have many a point, but the public knows little about this. Now, however, the situation is rapidly getting to the stage where merits of either side don't count and where the government must figure out a way to prevent the nation's economic collapse.

Drastic measures are available. The mines can be seized, the miners' union facilities can be seized. Persons who attempt to dissuade the miners from going back to work can be prosecuted. All this is severe, and the President is disinclined to go to such an extreme unless compelled by public necessity.

From a self-preservation point of view, the nation cannot afford to go more than ten days longer without more coal being mined.

John L. Lewis has accurate statistics on coal above ground and knows just how far he can press his case. He is represented as believing that the shortage is not as bad as painted, that much of the talk of serious deficiencies is exaggerated and that much pressing union by business and manufacturing interests anxious to help break the strike.

There is some disposition in official quarters to believe that maybe more coal is available than is generally thought to be the case, but the official word in any event is that the nation cannot allow the strike to go as much as ten days more.

Mr. Lewis is patiently waiting for the very latest moment to accept a compromise. The mine operators are waiting, too. The President has been impatient to seize the mines but has been advised to wait, on the theory that public reaction to the strike will make his task easier when the time comes to take drastic action.

There have been some complications behind the scenes. Back pay which has been in dispute is due to the miners. Some operators have wanted to pay it now. Others don't, because they think it will furnish the wherewithal to prolong the strike.

The American people do not know what is going on. There is among informed persons here a sympathy with the miners' demand for a welfare fund but agreement as to how the fund shall be collected or administered. John L. Lewis has declined to discuss other points at issue until the welfare question is settled. His feeling will not be taken such an extreme position, he will not get anything for the welfare fund.

The need for better safety laws and a welfare fund of some kind is conceded in principle, and if the public had known about the details from an official fact-finding board, as recommended by President Truman to Congress, there would have been less chance for a single union leader to tie up the nation's economic system or for the mine owners to refuse a practical compromise.

When will Congress cut through all the politics and the confusion and see that only an informed public opinion can prevent or terminate strikes in a democracy? When will Congress insist that when a major dispute is threatened, both sides be restrained from injuring the economic life of the country—at least until the merits of the dispute have been unfolded by an impartial tribunal?

The President made a mistake in trying during the auto strike to function through informal fact-finding boards which did not have legal sanction, and the right of subpoena. He made another mistake when he ceased to press Congress for action. He still has an opportunity to insist that Congress pass the fact-finding legislation at once. The country wants something done about strikes and the President's proposal is the least harmful and yet could be the most effective of all the suggestions that have been made with respect to the prevention of settlement of labor disputes. The measure is being blocked in the Senate by the labor union lobby. Mr. Truman should tell the American people about it, even if he involves the members of his own political party. Public opinion, with all the facts, can prevent or shorten strikes.

STAMPS in the NEWS

AP Features

New stamp issues from all parts of the globe are arriving daily to intrigue collectors. Many are the products of new governments. Others are from long-established regimes.

From Hungary has come an attractive set of nine values used by the Chinese on Formosa is reported by J. and H. Stolon of New York. The Chinese are merely utilizing existing Japanese stamps on stamps by overprinting them "Chinese Republic for use in Taiwan."

Nine of the stamps—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 30, 40, and 50-cent—feature large numerals. The five-cent and 10-cent stamps present familiar Japanese designs. All are imperforate.

Plans for the first day sale of the new United States three-cent stamp honoring discharged veterans May 9 call for Postmaster General Hannegan to sell the first sheet to President Truman and presentation of sheets to Gen. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, and Adm. Nimitz, chief of Naval operations. Sheets also will be presented to veterans of the four combat services—Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Although the official name of the United Nations, rather than United Nations Organization, Mexico's new stamps in honor of the world organization feature the letters "O.N.U." which stand for Organization de Naciones Unidas.

The six postage stamps show a globe and laurel branch and bear the inscription "For la Paz del Mundo" (For the Peace of the World). The five airmail stamps are dominated by the letters "O.N.U." composed of flags of the United Nations. A longer inscription "Para Conservar la Paz del Mundo" (In Order to Conserve the Peace of the World) also appears on the airmail stamps. Regular postage values are 2, 6, 12 and 20 cents. Airmail values are 30-c, 1, 5, 10 and 20 pesos.

There are 29 islands in the Bahamas.

Brazil has issued a diamond-shaped gray 40-centavo stamp to mark the 100th anniversary of the death of Adolpho Saldanha da Gama. From Brazil too have come a few copies of the 40-centavo stamp printed to commemorate the completion of an international bridge between Brazil and Argentina last November. Before it was placed on sale, however, President Getulio Vargas, whose portrait appeared on the stamp, was ousted from office and the stamps were withdrawn. As usually happens, however, two or three small post offices which had received the stamps released them.

Six new stamps from Albania, inscribed "Democratic Republic of Albania," feature three distinctive designs. The two lowest values picture a building on a hillside. A bridge resembling the Vozir bridge shown on Scott's A53 appears on the two middle denominations. Two high values show an air view of a settled valley.

When the old queen was retired from active service, Mr. Parsons entered the employ of the Stuyvesant Hotel, a post he held until he retired. He was one of the oldest members of Kingston Lodge of Elks at the time of his death.

Public Is Invited To Join Community Concert Association

Mrs. B. Kenneth Chatham and Miss Isabel Madden were the first to join Kingston Community Concert Association in the membership drive being conducted now during Music Week. Mrs. Chatham and Miss Madden registered at campaign headquarters, Governor Clinton Hotel early Monday.

Campaign week is half over today and workers are endeavoring to enlist enough members this year to fill the entire high school auditorium. There is still time for any person interested in hearing the best music possible in Kingston to join the group. Membership entitles the member to attend all three of the concerts to be given next season.

If contacts have not been made by a worker, memberships are obtainable at the hotel. Mrs. Benjamin W. Johnston, 274 Clinton avenue, is chairman of the memberships, and will gladly discuss any of the details with prospective members. Lawrence Bernhardt, field manager of Community Concerts, is assisting the local group with the campaign.

Edith Cooke Married To Edward G. Albrecht At St. Mary's Church

Miss Edith Anne Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooke of 174 Foxhall avenue, was married to Edward G. Albrecht, son of Captain and Mrs. Edward H. Albrecht Sunday. The ceremony was performed at 1:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, the Rev. John J. Drew officiating. Traditional wedding music was played, with Theodore Riccoboni at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of satin, with square neck and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The full skirt of tulle terminated in a chapel length train. Her finger tip veil, of imported illusion, was held in place with sprays of valley lilies. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, with white satin streamers.

Mr. L. I. the bride's cousin and only attendant, wore a gown of teal blue taffeta with bouffant skirt and a peplum forming a bustle effect. Her headpiece was fashioned of yellow flowers and illusion, and she carried a colonial bouquet similar to the bride's composed of yellow roses and snapdragons with yellow satin streamers.

Robert J. Cooke, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Senate Room of the Hotel Stuyvesant for the immediate families.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., Keator of Olive Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht will make their home at 174 Foxhall avenue. Mrs. Albrecht is a graduate of Kingston High School and Spencer's Business School and has been employed as bookkeeper by the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. Mr. Albrecht also attended Kingston High School and is a member of the University of Rochester. He is now associated with the Railway Express Agency of this city.

New Paltz Players Will Present Melodrama

The New Paltz Players will present to the College Day guests and to the college students Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock a melodrama entitled "The Curse of an Aching Heart" or "Trapped in a Spider's Web." The play directed by Miss McKenna, faculty member of the English Department, promises to be a hit.

Jack Roosa of Kingston will play the part of the hero, "Lucius Goodenough." Florence Feth of High Falls will play the part of "Nellie Blythe," an important visitor from nearby Four Corners, and Peggy Osterhout of Kingston is in charge of sound effects. Admission to the melodrama is free to students and College Day guests.

Price Panel Shifts Charges at Hearing

O.P.A. price ceiling violations received the complaint just as they were about to assemble for the regular weekly session.

According to the plaintiff, he purchased a cut of meat in an up-town meat market weighing approximately 3 pounds 5 ounces, at 11 a. m. yesterday. Upon his arrival home he became skeptical about the price and immediately went to the O. P. A. office to check the ceiling price. A checkup revealed that the ceiling price for this grade of meat was 43 cents per pound.

The Price Panel immediately notified the store manager to appear before them and after a short hearing assessed a $25 cash adjustment against the market, but suspended payment pending further violations. The purchaser withdrew all charges when the store manager took back the meat and refunded his $1.96.

Lieutenant Brings Charge

Another case involving a former Army lieutenant of Pittsfield, Mass., and a Saugerties meat market resulted in a $25 adjustment against the store, with payment suspended pending further violation of O.P.A. price ceilings.

According to the story told by the former lieutenant, he and his wife, en route to their home in Massachusetts, stopped at the Saugerties market several weeks ago and purchased two pounds of steak. The cut of meat, the plaintiff alleged, weighed a pound and fourteen ounces, for which he was charged $1.46.

After checking the price with a local store in Massachusetts, the ex-officer drove all the way to the Saugerties market. He brought the piece of steak here to be inspected by members of the board. In the review of the case by the Price Panel it was noted that according to existing ceilings the maximum for that type of meat was 57 cents a pound.

Hearing Is Third
Yesterday's hearing in the case was the third since original charges were filed. The Panel assessed a $25 adjustment against the market, but suspended payment pending any further violations. The plaintiff accepted the decision of the Panel with the reservation that he exercise his right to appeal to a higher court for review of the case.

An up-town cleaning shop, allegedly charging 25 cents over ceiling prices for the cleaning of some garments said this was due to a misunderstanding on prices when he took over the establishment from his predecessor. The Price Panel reminded him that under O.P.A. law a person purchasing a business must continue to operate at the same price levels established by the former owner. The cleaning shop operator was instructed to post ceiling prices in accordance with those filed by the former owner.

by the Otsego Presbytery at the First Presbyterian Church of Oneonta in May 1896, following his graduation that same week from Union Theological Seminary in New York, and following his ordination he immediately became the stated supply at the Margaretville Presbyterian Church where on Sunday of that same week he preached his first sermon following his ordination.

Until September 1897, Dr. Seeley served the congregation of the Margaretville Presbyterian Church, going from Margaretville to the Gardner Reformed Church which he continued to supply until April 1898, when he came to the Fair Street Reformed Church.

On April 5, 1898 he delivered his first sermon to a congregation of approximately 60 members of the church. The following year, on May 10, 1899, Dr. Seeley was installed as pastor of the church which he served continuously and with great distinction until he resigned the active pastorate and on June 9, 1943 the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra was ordained and installed as pastor. At that time Dr. Seeley became pastor emeritus and continues to serve the church, taking an active part in the weekly worship services.

Came Here 48 Years Ago

During Dr. Seeley's long pastorate of the Fair Street Church he has seen the membership of the church increase and its activities grow throughout the community. Many honors have come to Dr. Seeley since he first took up his pastorate here 48 years ago. It was in 1931 that the highest honor that can be bestowed on a minister of the Reformed Church in America was given him when he was elected president of the General Synod at its annual session held at Asbury Park, N. J.

Through his activity in church and mission work, Dr. Seeley has become widely known throughout the Reformed Church and among leading members of other denominations. Locally in addition to his religious activities, he has taken an active part in many civic and charitable works giving much of his time and energy to the relief of less fortunate people.

Born at Richfield Springs in May, 1872, he spent his early boyhood in Delhi where he attended public schools and Delaware Academy and in 1893 was graduated from Middlebury College in Vermont and then attended Union Theological Seminary.

It was in April, 1938, that the members of the Fair Street congregation voted to tribute to Dr. Seeley by the observance of his 40th anniversary as minister of the church and at the services Sunday his congregation and friends throughout this locality will again honor him when he observes the 50th anniversary of his ordination and entrance into the ministry.

tury, has been sold to Raymond Winkler, of Elmhurst, L. I. Mr. Winkler will assume charge as soon as the liquor license has been transferred.

Mr. Hill said today that he has nothing planned for the immediate future except a "nice long vacation for me and Mrs. Hill." He intimated that upon his return from the vacation he may re-enter business "somewhere in Rosendale."

The present business has been operated by Mr. Hill for 11 years. Prior to that he had managed a smaller enterprise purchased from Nicholas Sass about 19 years ago. Hill's hotel enjoyed unusual prosperity under Mr. Hill's guidance. He built up a large following of county and summer guests and was one of the most popular figures ever to operate a hotel and tavern in this area.

The Ulster County Liquor Dealers' Association recently made their seventh annual banquet a testimonial for Mr. Hill. He was highly lauded by county and state liquor authorities for the splendid record achieved while president of the liquor group.

Laborites Receive Confidence Vote After Hot Debate

Argument Arose Over Anglo Proposal to Withdraw Forces From Egypt

London, May 8 (P)—Britain's Labor Government, accused by Winston Churchill of presiding at the destruction of the British Empire, won a vote of confidence, 327 to 158, from the House of Commons last night after heated debate on a government proposal to withdraw all British forces from Egyptian territory.

The vote, culminating an argument which marked the Conservative party minority's first open split with the Labor majority on foreign policy, came after Herbert Morrison, Laborite floor leader, declared that the alternative to pulling the British military establishment out of Egypt was "almost certain disturbance, riot and possibly even revolution." Prime Minister Attlee, earlier had described the proposal as the best means "to calm rising Egyptian Nationalism" as he rose to defend the government policy against Conservative attacks, including an accusation from Ian Fraser that the government was beginning "to unbuckle the British Empire."

In Cairo, where negotiations now are under way for revision of the 1936 British-Egyptian Treaty of Alliance, highly qualified British sources estimated that it would take at least five years to complete the proposed withdrawal of British forces from their positions astride the lifeline of the British Empire.

The proposal, these sources said, envisions a strengthened Egyptian armed force under King Farouk, which would defend the vital Suez Canal.

Churchill, terming the proposal "one of the most momentous I have heard in the house" was backed solidly by his Conservative party minority in challenging the government.

Anthony Eden, who was foreign secretary when the 20-year-British-Egyptian pact was negotiated in 1936, contended that security of the Suez Canal "cannot be ignored, however strong that national feeling may be," and questioned Attlee persistently about dominion approval of "the terms and timing of the announcement."

"I did not come to this house—" Attlee shouted, and then broke off, adding a moment later: "the government takes full responsibility."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

For Backseat Drivers
Salt Lake City, May 8 (AP)—Traffic policeman J. H. Simonsen saw an automobile veer from one side of the street to the other before screaming to a halt a foot from a parked car.

"What's the trouble?" Simonsen asked as he approached.
"I don't know, but here it is," replied the driver as she handed him the steering wheel.
Simonsen suggested a mechanic.

Contempt Enough
Vancouver, Wash., May 8 (AP)—Attorney Booth Mc Abce began arguing with the judge.
"Ten dollars for contempt of court," said Justice of the Peace Paul Elwell.
"Ten dollars would not begin to express my contempt of this court," snapped Mc Abce.
"Fifty dollars," said the justice. The attorney was silent.

New Panes
Chicago, May 8 (AP)—Three janitors at the central police building haven't a very sunny outlook on a project they started after the city-wide brownout was ordered.

As a measure to save electricity, they are removing the heavy black paper, used for blackouts during wartime, which covers about 500 windows. But they told Chief Janitor James Tobin the paper was fastened so firmly the job would not be completed in a hurry.

And when they finish, Tobin said they complained, they will have 500 additional windows to wash.

Choo Choo Runaway
Glueck, Minn., May 8 (AP)—The Minnesota western roundhouse now has plenty of ventilation.

Foreman Frank Finkle explains it was all an accident, however. The throttle slipped while he was backing a locomotive into the roundhouse and the engine went through the rear of the building.

Baldwin Intends to Run
New York, May 8 (AP)—Republican Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin intends to run for re-election from Manhattan's "Silk Stocking" 17th Congressional District regardless of the decision of state party leaders. In a statement last night declaring he would run "primary or no primary," Baldwin said he would fight "out here and now" any attempt to sidetrack him as a candidate from the district—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's home district.

State Senator Frederick R. Couderd, Jr., leader of the Ninth Assembly District, which is in the 17th Congressional District, has been regarded as Baldwin's possible successor.

President Truman Has Quiet 62nd Birthday

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Truman observed his 62nd birthday today by posting a "business as usual" notice at the White House.

If the family planned any party, Mr. Truman hadn't been told about it. Neither had White House officials.

Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman told him it would be "like any other day, only more so," and that if there was to be a birthday cake it was being kept secret from him.

A year ago, Mr. Truman announced on his birthday the end of the war against Germany. Today he started a homefront campaign for more safety on streets and highways. The occasion was the opening of a highway safety conference attended by governors and many state and local leaders from all over the country.

plans to spend $25,000,000 for purchase of 22 American ships including 10 Liberty, four cargo liners and eight tankers, and to resell them to private owners, Oslo reports. The ships, built between 1943 and 1945, have been chartered to Norway since then.

O.P.A. Tightening Noose on the Black Market in Meat

O.P.A. is cracking down hard on meat black market operations with its new slaughter control order, which regulates non-federally inspected livestock slaughterers and became effective as to most slaughterers on April 28. District Director Lester W. Herzog warned today that the order, designed to provide a fairer distribution of livestock by driving supplies among all slaughterers on the basis of their 1944 slaughter, will be strictly enforced.

With some modifications, it restates controls formerly imposed by order issued on April 25, 1945, which was suspended on September 8 and finally revoked on December 29. Its purpose is to limit slaughter of cattle, calves and swine by months to the volume slaughtered by the same person or company in 1944. The Department of Agriculture is administering a similar control order for federally inspected plants, issued simultaneously with the O.P.A. order, this being a joint attempt by the two agencies to revert to the 1944 slaughter pattern.

"By channeling slaughtering operations into readily controlled establishments, it is hoped that the new order will effectively eliminate the black market suppliers who have mushroomed in the absence of slaughter control," Mr. Herzog said. He warned that "those who harbor the idea that enforcement will lag and who therefore delay their compliance with the regulation, will find themselves in Federal court."

Mr. Herzog said that immediate court action, with possible loss of subsidies, will be filed against non-inspected slaughterers who: Do not have a license and continue to slaughter; who slaughter more than their quota; who fail to mark their products correctly; or who neglect to keep proper records. He emphasized that this applies to farm slaughterers as well as packing plants.

Scranton Times Is Pulitzer Winner

Paper Cited for Federal Court Probe; Other Awards Made.

(Held From Tuesday)

New York, May 7 (AP)—The 1945 Pulitzer prize for "meritorious public service" has been awarded to the Scranton, Pa., Times.

The paper was cited for its 15-year probe of judicial practices in a Pennsylvania Federal Court which resulted in the indictment of former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnston last September.

Pulitzer awards are made annually by the trustees of Columbia University on the recommendation of the advisory board of the Graduate School of Journalism.

The Scranton Times credited the award largely to the work of 38-year-old George H. Martin, assistant city editor, who began investigating the case when he was a federal court reporter.

The trustees named "The State of the Union," by Howard L. Lindsay and Russel Crouse as the best original play.

For the fourth time since the prizes were instituted in 1917, no award was made for the best novel. The trustees failed also to award poetry or news photography prizes.

The three omissions were not a record, however. In 1919 the Pulitzer Prize Committee failed to make four awards.

The following additional prizes were announced:

Wins With Bomb Story

William L. Lawrence, of the New York Times, for a "distinguished example of a reporter's work" with his eye-witness account of the atom bombing of Nagasaki and his subsequent articles on the development, production and significance of the atom bomb.

Homer Bigart of the New York Herald Tribune, for a distinguished example of telegraphic reporting on international affairs.

Arnaldo Cortes, of the New York Times, for distinguished correspondence with his dispatches from Argentina.

Hodding Carter of the Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Miss., for distinguished editorial writing, awarded for a group of editorials on the subject of racial, religious and economic intolerance.

Bruce Russell of the Los Angeles Times for a distinguished example of a cartoonist's work, awarded for a cartoon entitled "Time to Bridge That Gulch," depicting a Russian Bear and an American Eagle facing across a deep chasm of "irresponsible statements" and "deepening suspicion."

Edward A. Harrie, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for telegraphic reporting on national affairs, awarded for his articles on the Tidewater Oil situation, culminating in the withdrawal of Edwin W. Pauley's nomination as undersecretary of the navy.

In the field of letters, these additional prizes were awarded: "The Age of Jackson," by Arthur O. Lovejoy, best book dealing with American history.

"Son of the Wilderness," a life of John Muir, the naturalist, by the late Mrs. Linnie Marsh Wolfe, for a distinguished American biography.

Leo Sowerby was awarded the prize in the field of music for "The Carle of the Sun," best composition by an American composer. Miss Iris Maragliotti, Scarsdale, N. Y., won a $1,500 scholarship as "the most promising and deserving" art student.

UPSET STOMACHS YIELD INCHES OF GAS AND BLOAT

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got ERB-HELP, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Erb-Help to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial from a man living right here in Kingston.

ERB-HELP is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—get Erb-Help. Sold by all Drug Stores here in Kingston.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, May 8—Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mosher of New York are at the Mosher residence here.

Mrs. Mosher and the two children will remain in Woodstock, owing to the difficulty of securing housing facilities in the city. Sale of the house where they had been residing made the temporary change necessary.

Kingston Laundry Has 25th Birthday

Business Employs 55, Has Been Expanded by Owners Since 1921

Today the Kingston Laundry, Inc., of 81-87 Broadway is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the business on May 8, 1921, by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kalish, who still continue to operate the business.

The concern was started in a small one-story building at 85 Broadway, but the growth of the business was such that from time to time it was found necessary to expand.

The small building was rebuilt and enlarged, but the business continued to grow in volume, and it was found necessary to purchase the adjoining buildings and add them to the laundry plant.

The laundry today is one of the most modern in the Hudson river valley. It is equipped with the most modern and up-to-date machinery, and has its own fleet of large delivery trucks used to cover the routes in the city, collecting and delivering orders.

When the business was established a quarter of a century ago it employed a few people, but today 55 men and women are actively engaged in handling the large volume of business.

A large amount of work is also done for customers outside the city, and during the summer vacation season the laundry of many of the large summer resorts in the vicinity of Kingston is handled by the local concern.

In 1921 when Mr. and Mrs. Kalish decided to embark in the laundry business they looked about them and decided to take over the little one-story building at 85 Broadway, where the concern spent its early years.

The present laundry plant now takes in all of the buildings on Broadway from 81 to 87, inclusive.

All of these buildings have been consolidated under one roof with the unfinished work being delivered by the concern's trucks direct to the large washing plant, equipped with the most modern washing machinery, and then passing through the various stages of the laundry business until it is loaded at the other end of the plant into the delivery trucks.

All of the ironing is done by machinery, and modern sanitary methods are used in all departments of the big plant.

Today with its large payroll the Kingston Laundry rates among the more important industries in Kingston.

Fellowship Guild Will Sponsor Hollywood Breakfast Program

The Fellowship Guild of First Presbyterian Church will hold a Tom Breneman Hollywood Breakfast program at Ramsey Hall Tuesday evening, May 14, starting at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to join in the fun. The usual awards will be made. The program is open to all. Good Neighbor letters nominating someone as a good neighbor are to be written this week and sent to Mrs. Ralph Shults, 50 Josephine avenue, who will have charge of this committee. Mrs. Robert McAndrew is general chairman.

Fred Stang will act the part of Tom Breneman. He will be assisted by Walter Caunitz and Earl Sweet. The plans for the party were made at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in the ladies parlor of the church. Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held the week of May 20. Mrs. Charles Burger and Mrs. Kenneth Laney will be co-chairmen. The location will be announced. Following the business meeting John B. Staley, judge of the surrogate's court gave a talk on the duties of his office. Afterward he conducted a discussion. Walter Caunitz introduced Judge Staley.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. The committee for the evening included Mrs. Casper Souers, Mrs. Horace Oaks and Mrs. Walter Caunitz.

New Paltz Prepares College and May Days

One hundred and twenty-five high school seniors are expected to visit the State Teachers College at New Paltz, Friday. Plans have been completed for the annual College Day and May Day festivities.

The purpose of College Day is to give high school seniors interested in teaching an opportunity to see the school in session and to talk with faculty counselors. Luncheon and dinner will be served the guests in the college cafeteria. Later in the afternoon a tea-dance will be held and after dinner a bus ride to points of interest in the vicinity.

On Friday evening, the New Paltz Players will present "The Curse of an Aching Heart." Those who live beyond commuting distance will be entertained overnight in sorority houses, boarding houses and homes of the community.

Saturday morning the junior class will present an elaborate May Day Festival at 10:30 on the college campus.

The program will be:

- Friday
Registration—College Building, main entrance.
12:30—Luncheon, cafeteria.
1:15—Assembly, college auditorium.
1:45—Personal interviews with faculty counselors.
Conducted tours of college and school of practice.

Public Is Invited To Join Community Concert Association

Mrs. B. Kenneth Chatham and Miss Isabel Madden were the first to join Kingston Community Concert Association in the membership drive being conducted now during Music Week. Mrs. Chatham and Miss Madden registered at campaign headquarters, Governor Clinton Hotel early Monday.

Campaign week is half over today and workers are endeavoring to enlist enough members this year to fill the entire high school auditorium. There is still time for any person interested in hearing the best music possible in Kingston to join the group. Membership entitles the member to attend all three of the concerts to be given next season.

If contacts have not been made by a worker, memberships are obtainable at the hotel. Mrs. Benjamin W. Johnston, 274 Clinton avenue, is chairman of the memberships, and will gladly discuss any of the details with prospective members. Lawrence Bernhardt, field manager of Community Concerts, is assisting the local group with the campaign.

Edith Cooke Married To Edward G. Albrecht At St. Mary's Church

Miss Edith Anne Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooke of 174 Foxhall avenue was united in marriage to Edward Graham Albrecht, son of Captain and Mrs. Edward H. Albrecht Sunday. The ceremony was performed at 1:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, the Rev. John J. Drew officiating. Traditional wedding music was played with Theodore Ricebano at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of satin, with square neck and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The full skirt of nine terminated in a chapel length train. Her finger tip veil, of imported illusion, was held in place with sprays of valley lilies. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, with white satin streamers.

Miss Ann M. Hyland, of Ozone Park, L. I., the bride's cousin and only attendant, wore a gown of teal blue taffeta with puffed skirt and a peplum forming a bustle effect. Her headpiece was fashioned of yellow flowers and illusion, and she carried a colonial bouquet similar to the bride's composed of yellow roses and snapdragons with yellow satin streamers.

Robert J. Cooke, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Senate Room of the Hotel Stuyvesant for the immediate families.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C.,

Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht will make their home at 174 Foxhall avenue. Mrs. Albrecht is a graduate of Kingston High School and Spencer's Business School and has been employed as bookkeeper by the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. Mr. Albrecht also attended Kingston High School and is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Army for five years, three of which were spent in Europe with the 9th Infantry Division as Combat Medic. He is now associated with the Railway Express Agency of this city.

Grunenwalds Engage Perrys in City Baseball League Tonight

Cleveland Golden Glove Champs on May 16 Boxing Card

Tuesday's Contest Was Washed Out; Rosters Announced

Toddy Uhl May Be Starting Flinger for Manager Ed Murphy's Bakers; Slate for Next Week Given

Tuesday's steady rainfall caused the first postponement in the City Baseball League last night at the municipal stadium between the Old Capital Motors club and George Zadany's Jones Dairy. This contest, as all others which are postponed, will be played at the end of the regulation season.

Tonight's Game
Although the weather this morning was threatening players of the Perry's Service Station nine and Eddie Murphy's Grunenwald Bakers were confident that they could get in their scheduled contest. The game will go on at 6:15 o'clock, weather permitting.

Manager Murphy has a stellar roster for his Grunenwald club this year and providing the team plays as well as it looks on paper it could have a great chance to come home with the pennant. Although no definite pitching choices have been named for tonight's battle it could be Toddy Uhl for the Grunenwalds. Uhl is a veteran City League hurler of many years who is back looking for another successful season.

Other players in the Grunenwald lineup are Jack Dawkins, Bill Hanley, Johnny Schatzel, Tom Fisher, Lou Albrecht, Don Kelly, Buddy Smith, Jules Albertini, Charlie Lay, Charlie Grunenwald, Charlie Tiano, Bob Hanley and Ralph Williams. A lot of veteran ball players are in this roster and should give City League fans plenty of baseball thrills this summer season.

Manager John Perry has his club set to go in this initial City League contest and according to the pilot his club is ready to give every other team in the circuit plenty of trouble. Perry's club has Jack Buchanan, Mike Yonta, Clayton Stalter, Jimmy Chick, Johnny A. Perry, Louis Perry, Marty Lendin, Bobby Schatzel, Frank Spada, Dan Basch, Jay Fiore, Frank Dominico, Bob Romasinski and Matt Perry.

The final game of the first week of play will take place at the stadium Thursday night at 6:15 o'clock when Bill Ball's Morgan's restaurant engages the Jaybird nine.

Next Week's Schedule
Pete Markle announced next week's City League schedule Tuesday afternoon when visited by a Freeman representative. The schedule follows:

Monday, May 13
Ertels vs. Old Capital Motors

Tuesday, May 14
Gov. Clinton Market vs. Jones Dairy

Wednesday, May 15
Perry's Service vs. Morgans

Thursday, May 16
Jayrich vs. New York Central

Grunenwalds (bye)

Complete and final rosters for all nine teams in the City League were also released yesterday by Pete Markle secretary.

Jayrich—Lou Sacro, manager; J. Secreto, T. Crespinio, E. Sohn, F. Neff, M. Milano, L. Komosa, C. Franco, R. Mauro, S. Ferraro, C. Manfro, P. Ferraro, E. Fortino, T. Carlinio and Ron Mauro.

Gov. Clinton Market—Jim Freleigh, manager; Joe Benjamin, Frank Van Etten, Ed Minasian, Jimmy Secreto, Jimmy Turek, Dominic Perry, Hank Barnes, Charlie Beck, Tommy Maines, Charlie Neff, Mae Tiano, "Tex" Brown (who left after Kingston High School season), Art Barnes, Paul Misove and Earl Sleight.

Morgans—Bill Ball, manager; Jack S. Ruble, Bud Swarthout, Bud Zoller, Howie Brooks, Art Hasbrouck, Lou Sapp, George Schirich, Bill Tierney, Fred Storms, Jess Shultis, George Brinkman, Ken Hopper and Tom Heneberry.

Jones Dairy—George Zadany, manager; Al Zadany, Joe Dulin, Willie Berardi, Chappie Vandenberg, Andy Celuch, Elmer Hopper, John Berardi, J. Eorardi, J. Davis, Bill Windburn, George Celuch, D. Ausano, C. Tiano and Billy Ostrom.

New York Central—"Pucker" Davis, manager; H. Wolff, Ad Stumpf, F. Snyder, H. Letus, Ed Ashdown, G. Brown, B. Brown, F. Ebelheiser, F. Kayman, F. DuBois, C. McCaully and H. McCaully.

Ertels—John Hughes, manager; Frank Bartroff, Bob Bush, Bill Bush, Form Coughlin, Buddy Hughes, Paul Joyce, Ray Lindner, Bob Brower, Joe Mahar, Marjick Marjick, Al Thomas, Hubert Williams, Joe Woods and Jimmy Martin.

Old Capital Motors—Jason Gourmas, manager; Ed Allen, Al Fischer, Rescoe Maxson, Jim Madden, "Duke" Freer, Jack Haber, Al Nushbaum, Bob Nushbaum, Farrell McElrath, Will Vogt, Red Siegeloff, Don Ransom, John Mayone, Joe Schrowang and George Zelle.

Rosters for Grunenwalds and Perry's Service Station are included in regular story on tonight's game.

Hartford—Nek Stato, 130, Springfield, Mass., outpointed Ossie Rodriguez, 129, New York, 8.

Reception for Keglers At Auditorium Tonight

Enjoyable Evening Is Ready for Welcome Home Party; Starts at 8 P. M.

A gala evening has been planned for the Welcome Home reception to the veteran league bowlers of this city who served in the armed forces during World War 2 which will take place this evening at the municipal auditorium starting at 8 o'clock promptly.

Tonight's program has been arranged and secured by a committee of local keglers who initiated plans for such an event more than two years ago when bowlers of the Nacodan League suggested a similar party for the returning G. I. trundler. The committee has been working ever since.

honorary past-president of the Kingston Bowling Association, who has obtained a well-balanced list of entertainment for the event.

List of Speakers

The program will be opened this evening by the Rev. W. Wesley Williams who will give the invocation. Short speeches will then be given by Mayor William F. Edelmueth, Evelyn Dolson, co-chairman of the reception and president of the Kingston Bowling Association; Addison Jones, co-chairman of the reception and president of the Kingston Bowling Association; and three out-of-town representatives in the bowling world. One will be Mrs. Iola F. Lasher, president of the New York State Women's Bowling Association. Another is Mrs. Ruth C. Hunzinger, secretary of the New York State Women's Bowling Association. William M. Briner, field secretary of the American Bowling Congress is the third visiting guest. Also on the speaker's roster will be District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, past president of the Kingston Bowling Association, who is expected to speak to the assembly on the subject of "Dancing Stars."

Music throughout the evening will be furnished by Paul Zucca's orchestra and his band also will open the program by playing The Star Spangled Banner.

Through voluntary contributions from the various bowling leagues in the city the committee on arrangements has been able to obtain a qualified list of performers for the evening's show. It will be headlined by eight acts of entertainment. About $600 was spent in bringing these acts to Kingston.

According to a statement from the committee each and every one is expected to be of the top-flight variety.

The entertainment will include the Five McKennas, Irish colliers in step and figure dances; Eddie Shine, recently featured at the Greenwich Village Inn in his "Tops in Topology"; the Memory Lane Trio, part of Joe Howard's Gay Nineties Unit offering "Melodies that Linger"; George Jones and his "Jest for Fun"; Allen and Drake, featured at the Latin Quarter in an act entitled "Satanically Yours"; Thea King, popular Broadway nightclub favorite, who is billed as a "Dancing Starlet"; Bernice George, recently starred at the "Glass Hat"; and Morey and Grant, in a somewhat different novelty. George Jones will be master of ceremonies. The entertainment has been obtained through the Harry Shea booking agency in New York.

Girls to Usher

Mrs. John Schatzel, president of the Mixed Bowling League will have a number of young ladies at this evening's affair who will act as flower girls and usherettes.

Each veteran kegler will receive

City Softball Loop Is Seeking Umpires

Officials of the City Softball League are seeking qualified umpires to officiate at the league games this summer. All games will be played at either Loughran, Block or Hasbrouck Park.

Persons interested are asked to contact the department of recreation, 97 Broadway, for further information.

Maroon to Play Port Jervis Friday

N.Y.M.A. Contest Called Off on Tuesday

Kingston High School will try to even the DUSO League standings Friday afternoon by engaging Port Jervis at the Tri-State diamond.

The Maroon lost their opener to Middletown last Friday at the municipal stadium. "Tex" Brown and Chris Lay are expected to turn the battery for the locals.

Tuesday's game at Cornwall against the N.Y.M.A. Cadets was called off due to an inspection at the academy after the high school team had arrived for the contest.

No advance notice had been issued. "We tried to play the game," Coach Pete Hatch said, "but government inspectors had the final say."

Next Tuesday the high school diamond club will play host to Poughkeepsie at the stadium.

College Baseball Is Having Top Season

Colgate Coach Says Crowds Have Been Doubled

Hamilton, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—College baseball is experiencing its biggest season since 1926, competitively and at the gate. Colgate Coach Everett D. (Eppie) Barnes said today.

Barnes, president of the American Association of College Baseball coaches, described the boom as nationwide on the basis of personal observations and reports from association members.

Coaches of Colgate's six opponents already played have told him, Barnes said, that their squads are much larger and that attendance has at least doubled.

FREEMAN SUMMER LEAGUE
Team 1 took over first place in the Freeman Summer League Tuesday night at the Central Rec alleys by registering a clean three game sweep over team 4. The first place club now has won four while dropping two. Charlie Tiano sparked the leaders with a solid 564 series on games of 202, 168 and 196. Tom LaPolt had a 328 triple for the losers.

In the other match Team 3 dropped an opportune chance of taking over second place by losing a pair of decisions to Team 2. Roland Post emerged high man in the match with a 510 three on individual scores of 155, 180 and 205. Jack Hartman's 506 was high for the losers.

No Tailors Around

Atlantic City, N. J., May 8 (AP)—The C.I.O. Amalgamated Clothing Workers' publicity man still was a bit red-faced today because he had to call on a hotel valet to repair a torn suit. Richard Bohman of New York tore the jacket of his suit entering a taxi last night and though there are 1,250 delegates—most of them expert tailors—attending the union's convention none could be found to do a bit of sewing.

Led Sixth Ward Over Top

Irving Bell and Herb Siller led the Sixth Ward over the top with a larger percentage than any other ward in the Y.M.C.A. drive. From the first report to the closing last night, they led all other wards. Their goal was $150 and the total raised was $305. (John Crosby Photo.)

Kingston Laundry Has 25th Birthday

Business Employs 55, Has Been Expanded by Owners Since 1921

Today the Kingston Laundry, Inc., of 81-87 Broadway is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the business on May 8, 1921, by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kalish, who still continue to operate the business.

The concern was started in a small one-story building at 85 Broadway, but the growth of the business was such that from time to time it was found necessary to expand.

The small building was rebuilt and enlarged, but the business continued to grow in volume, and it was found necessary to purchase the adjoining buildings and add them to the laundry plant.

The laundry today is one of the most modern in the Hudson river valley. It is equipped with the most modern and up-to-date machinery, and has its own fleet of large delivery trucks used to cover the routes in the city, collecting and delivering orders.

When the business was established a quarter of a century ago it employed a few people, but today 55 men and women are actively engaged in handling the large volume of business.

A large amount of work is also done for customers outside the city, and during the summer vacation season the laundry of many of the large summer resorts in the vicinity of Kingston is handled by the local concern.

In 1921 when Mr. and Mrs. Kalish decided to embark in the laundry business they looked about them and decided to take over the little one-story building at 85 Broadway, where the concern spent its early years.

The present laundry plant now takes in all of the buildings on Broadway from 81 to 87, inclusive.

All of these buildings have been consolidated under one roof with the unfinished work being delivered by the concern's trucks direct to the large washing plant, equipped with the most modern washing machinery, and then passing through the various stages of the laundry business until, it is loaded at the other end of the plant into the delivery trucks.

All of the ironing is done by machinery, and modern sanitary methods are used in all departments of the big plant.

Today with its large payroll the Kingston Laundry rates among the more important industries in Kingston.
